State Police In Billerica

State Police Seize Tract of Land in Billerica and Locate About Mile From Car Shops

KEEN BLOW TO SHOP MEN

Arrival of State Police Looked Upon as Insult By Strikers

Shops Will Be Guarded—Police Tents Will Accommodate 160 Men

Beginning today and until further notice the Boston & Maine car shops in Billerica will be guarded by the state police, some of whom arrived in the neighboring town this morning. This action was taken following a notification sent to the commissioner of public safety by Gov. Cox yesterday to the effect that the state police was in service in suppressing disorders and in preserving peace in the vicinity of the railroad shops where strikes are on.

The arrival of the state police in North Billerica this morning was a keen blow to the strikers who protested energetically, saying that such action was an insult to them, and called for.

An advance guard arrived in Billerica this forenoon and armed with necessary papers they seized a large tract of land owned by a Mr. Carney and located at close proximity to the railroad tracks, a distance of over a mile from the shops. Lumber was brought on the land and upon their arrival the men began the laying of a wooden floor preparatory to the pitching of tents. The strikers learned that eight tents 16 feet square will be pitched, each tent to accommodate between 12 and 20 men. In addition there will be a cook tent.

Just what the plans of the state police are could not be learned, but the strikers believe that the men will be made to guard duty on the roads leading to the carshops and perhaps in the vicinity of the foundry in Middlesex Village.

Thomas F. Golding, a member of the press committee, stated this morning that he cannot understand why such drastic measures should be taken by the governor or the commissioner of public safety, for although the strike has been on two weeks, there has never been the slightest disturbance on the part of the strikers in the vicinity of the plant. "We feel," he said, "that the calling out of the state constabulary is an insult to the dignity of the men."

Arthur D. Prince to Make Official Visit to Masonic Bodies in Far Off China

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Prince will leave Lowell at about the middle of August on a trip that will take them through China, Japan, India and Europe before returning home, which will not be before the first of December. Mr. Prince, master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Massachusetts, is making the trip as an official representative of this body to Masonic lodges in China, of which there are 15, all of which are under the absolute jurisdiction of the Massachusetts grand lodge and the oldest of which has a history dating back 50 years. That part of the trip which will take Mr. Prince through Japan and India will be given over to a study of Masonic conditions in those countries, both of which have lodges under English jurisdiction. In India, the Grand Lodge of England has jurisdiction since the 18th century.

Lodges in China that will be officially visited by Mr. Prince include three in Shanghai, one in Peking, one in Tien Tsin and one in Dairen, Manchuria.

Since 1793 the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts has had the policy of chartering lodges in foreign lands and this has resulted in the advancement of Masonry in many parts of the world. In addition to the lodges in China, there are at present under Massachusetts jurisdiction three lodges in Chili and others in the Canal zone. The lodges in the Canal zone were visited by Mr. Prince last year.

Mr. Prince's trip is significant because of the fact that there has never been a visit made to the lodges in China by a representative of the grand lodge in 60 years.

The membership of these lodges is composed largely of American residents in China, but the membership of the Peking lodge embraces many of the influential Chinese of the country—leaders in governmental affairs and substantial business men. Dr. See, Chinese ambassador at Washington is a member of the Peking lodge as is Dr. Yen, dean of the Yale medical school at Shanghai. Mr. Prince also brought it to mind that some of the Chinese delegates to the world conference at Washington, also were members of this body.

GERMANY ACCEPTS PLAN FOR PAYMENT

PARIS, July 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Germany has formally accepted the demands of the allied committee on guarantees which were presented at Berlin last Tuesday. In a letter to the reparations commission, received today, Chancellor Wirth stated that Germany, after profound deliberation, had decided to accept the conditions for the duration of the moratorium which the German government assumed would soon be granted.

The conditions, the letter points out, place a heavy load upon the German government, and its acceptance is only agreed to by the government and the parliament on the theory that the forthcoming decision on the reparations question will constitute a definite settlement of the chief financial questions which have been the subject of negotiations between the committee on guarantees and the German government.

ITALY'S ATTITUDE MAY HALT ACTION

LONDON, July 22. (By the Associated Press.)—Uncertainty regarding Italy's attitude toward the Palestine and Syria mandates may cause the council of the League of Nations, which has been in session here all this week, to postpone decisive action on the draft mandates, until its next meeting in September.

The council is giving close study to Austria's situation in the light of recent events, and is much encouraged by the reported willingness of the reparations commission to suspend its claims against Austria for 20 years.

WATCHMAN SLAIN BY SAFE-BLOWERS

HAMILTON, Ont., July 22.—The murder of E. F. Caddy, aged watchman, whose body, with a bullet through the forehead, was found this morning in the factory of E. D. Smith & Sons, at Windsor, revealed an attempt to blow and loot the vaults of the company.

Caddy apparently had been slain when he surprised the burglars at work. They had blown open the vaults and made an ineffectual attempt to get at the contents of a strong box.

Remains of Mgr. O'Brien Viewed by Parishioners at Rectory Parlor

Many Moved to Tears, on Sight of Beloved Dead—Sunday's Ceremonies

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the body of the beloved Mgr. William O'Brien, late rector of St. Patrick's church, was brought from his private apartments in the parochial residence to the rectory parlor where an endless line of parishioners and friends of the deceased viewed the remains. To prevent crowding the visitors, directed by ushers, entered by the front door and passed out by the rear. The ushers at the house were in charge of Mr. John P. Adams and consisted of the following: Dr. P. J. Hagley, James J. Brown, James J. Brady, P. J. Coffey, Dr. F. P. Donahoe, Dr. John H. Donovan, James P. Flannery, Joseph W. Green, John J. Hanlon, Charles J. Leary, Arthur M. McDevitt, Dr. P. J. Meehan, Alcide A. Parent and John J. Sullivan. These men will also serve in the same capacity during the services at the church.

A large crowd had gathered in front of the parochial residence awaiting the arrival of the hour appointed for the parishioners and close friends of the late Monsignor to view the remains.

Drive For New Athletic Field Rapidly Assumes Definite Shape

Nineteen classes of the Lowell high school, from the extremes of 1873 and 1920, have formed teams for the purpose of soliciting funds for the Alumbi campaign to raise $25,000 for the erection of an athletic field at Spaulding park.

There are many other class teams yet to be formed, of course, but the work is progressing rapidly and by the middle of next week it is expected that each class will have its proper representation in the drive.

Naturally, there is a vast amount of detail connected with preliminary

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL

Land and Buildings Assessed for $90,000, Included in Recent Transfer

One of the biggest real estate transactions in the city in a long time took place recently when the remainder of the Patrick Dempsey estate, consisting of dwelling houses in Dempsey's place off Salem street as well as in Market and Worthen streets, was transferred to Miss Ila M. Connell, who is listed in the Lowell directory as being a clerk at the First Central Savings bank and residing at 33 Lomb street. The property sold is assessed for close to $90,000.

The property involved in the sale includes eight buildings comprising 42 tenements, located at 116-142 Salem street and 1-19 Dempsey's place. The property involved in the sale consists of 50 tenements and two stores as well as 41,575 square feet of land. It is as follows: Eight buildings comprising 42 tenements and 34,295 square feet of land located at 116-142 Salem street and 1-19 Dempsey's place, the assessed valuation being $54,250. Buildings at 314-324 Market street and 183-185 Worthen street, comprising eight tenements and two stores. The land area of this parcel is 7400 square feet and the assessed valuation is $25,700. A portion of this property is occupied by James P. O'Donnell & Sons, funeral directors. The sale was effected through the office of Walter B. Ouyette, the Dempsey estate being represented by James J. Kerwin and the purchaser by Arthur C. Spaulding.

Nomination Papers Coming in Slowly at Office of the Election Commissioners

Nomination papers are being filed for certification very slowly at the office of the board of election commissioners, with the final day for filing less than two weeks distant. In all, in the three representative districts that embrace the nine Lowell wards, 23 candidates have announced themselves and have taken out papers in the interests of their candidacies. However, of this total, only seven have filed papers for certification, or less than one-third of those who have sealed their hats into the political ring. It is believed that the next two weeks, prior to Aug. 4, which is the last day for filing in this city, will see the majority of the delinquents in line, for it is known that practically all of the malready are in the full swing of their campaigns. Of the representatives now serving from Lowell, who are running for reelection, Owen E. Brennan in the 14th and Adelard Berard and Henry A. Ahlin, Jr., in the 15th are the only ones who have filed their papers. The present incumbents yet to be heard from, although papers have been taken out for them, are Charles H. Slowsky in the

FIVE KILLED WHEN TRAINS COLLIDE

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 22.—Five persons were killed and several persons injured this morning when a St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train No. 2, known as the Texas Special, struck train No. 9, known as the Meteor, in head-on collision at the Meteor, about 25 miles west of Springfield.

A list of the dead and injured was not available. The cause of the wreck had not been ascertained.

Six Killed

JOPLIN, Mo., July 22.—Six persons were killed in the head-on collision of St. Louis-San Francisco passenger trains Nos. 2 and 9 at Logan, Mo., this morning, according to the railroad agent at Marionville, which is near Logan. Resident C. H. Ring, engineer on train No. 2, a man, his wife and three children on No. 2 were killed, the agent said.

NEW YORK, July 22.—A pistol battle between a policeman and four men he caught trying to enter a Brooklyn warehouse early today, continued for 10 minutes. He was taken to a hospital where the bullets were extracted.

STRIKER IN DISTRICT COURT

Elizabeth Saranty Attacked by Constanton Zouzas in Monument Square

The Zouzas Woman's a Striker—Saranty Woman Did Not Strike

Judge Enright Warns Strikers—Jail Sentences in Future Cases of Assault

Judge Enright clearly outlined in district court this morning just what disposition would be made of future cases of a striker attacking a person who is still at work, during the trial of Constanton Zouzas. While an employee of any concern, the judge stated, has a perfect right to go on strike and carry on legitimate picketing, he has no right whatsoever to interfere with those who are still at work. The use of force by a picket on such a person renders the picket a criminal offender, he said, and the next defendant that appears in court on a charge of this kind will draw down a jail sentence.

The woman, Constanton Zouzas, attacked Elizabeth Saranty in Monument square, the night before last. The Saranty woman is still at work

DEVELOPMENTS ARE EXPECTED

Hooper Will Give President Complete Survey of Strike Situation

Senators Cummins, Watson and Kellogg Called to White House Confab

A. F. of L. Makes Public Telegrams Sent to Heads of Striking Shopmen

WASHINGTON, July 22 (by the Associated Press).—Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the railroad labor board, arriving here today in response to a summons from the White House, went into conference with President Harding prepared to give the executive a complete survey of the railroad strike situation and the recent negotiations conducted with a view to bringing about a settlement.

After the conference between the president and Chairman Hooper had been in progress nearly an hour, Chairman Cummins of the senate interstate commerce committee, who with other committee members, conferred with Eastern railroad executives on the strike situation Thursday night, was called to the White House.

Senators Watson of Indiana and Kellogg of Minnesota, the other members of the interstate commerce committee who conferred with the railroad executives, also were summoned to the White House.

The labor board chairman went to the White House soon after arriving from Chicago. It was indicated he might have a statement to make after seeing the president. Almost coincident with Mr. Hooper's arrival, the American Federation of Labor made public telegrams sent by the labor legislative representatives of the National and International unions, located in Washington, to B. M. Jowell, leader of the rail strike forces, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, pledging sympathy and co-operation in the respective strikes of the railroad shop and mine workers. The telegrams were signed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as chairman of the legislative representatives' conference, and said: "Reports made to the conference from various sections of the country indicate a rising sympathy in favor of the men who are fighting for right and justice."

State Police on Guard

BOSTON, July 22.—Details of state police were on duty at several railroad centers in Massachusetts today. Their mobilization was ordered last night by Governor Cox in a communication to Commissioner of Public Safety Alfred P. Foote, directing that the men be employed "for service in suppressing disorders and in preserving the peace within the commonwealth."

The governor referred especially to rail centers at East Deerfield and Billerica, but details of police were sent

Attempt Settlement

NEW YORK, July 22.—Efforts by eastern roads to bring about individual agreements with their shopmen were forecast today on the basis of a statement by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad, and chairman of the eastern president's conference, that the carriers in "this part of the country were planning to form company unions." These, he said, would consist of the new employees and those who remained at work when the strike was called under this plan, whenever future labor difficulties arise, each railroad would negotiate separately with its men.

EVENTS AT WASHINGTON BECOME MORE INVOLVED AS SEASON ADVANCES

The Senators Go Swimming Before Breakfast -- Vice President Coolidge Following the Simple Life -- Floor Leaders. Can't Get Away -- Miss Robertson Sends Bombshell Into Women's Camp

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Can you come at 10 this morning and have a swim? Is a not infrequent telephone message from one man to another up in the splendid residential section of Washington where great marble palaces flank shaded parks and squares and circles. For nowadays a swimming pool is regarded as essential in the make-up of millionaire establishments in a city where 100 degrees in the shade in the down town sections is no uncommon occurrence during the long summer through which congress finds itself in session. Take for instance, Henderson castle, as it is styled by its owners, who by the way, at the time succeeded in getting 16th street changed to "Avenue of the Presidents" in order to give their residence a more distinctive address.

The Hendersons have one of the finest pools in the city and are very generous in sharing it with persons of high official rank who either invite them close to the capital through months of intense heat. Among those who swim in the Henderson pool are Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge who are living a quiet family life in Washington in spite of the fact that they work a hotel there and are in the habit of taking a house. "We couldn't afford to take a house," said Mrs. Coolidge one day in referring to her Washington life, "so we make our apartments as home-like as we can, and find it very delightful." And it is a fact that rents for houses are prohibitive in any section of the city where a man holding the second highest office in the country could properly make his home. It's a pity there isn't a vice presidential mansion as well as an executive mansion. Surely the dignity of the position demands such a provision.

Senators Bathe Before Breakfast

Bathing before breakfast down at the bath at the end of the bay on the borders of Potomac park, is a popular diversion for senators and members of congress, who, like the rest of the families and join the crowd in an early morning dip. Then, too, congress has provided fine baths in the capitol and this year a very small pool was added, no one having quite the entrance to advocate one of sufficient size to bring down a criticism of "republican extravagance" on the heads of the Senate. No one, by the way, means a man of large stature, complains it's not large enough to give him a fair stretch-out, but Norris is one of the champion swimmers of the senate.

Some of the members held fast to both golf and swimming, while a few trooped down to the White House tennis courts daily and got their exercise in the early morning before the sun scorches everything in sight.

Senator Frederick Hale of Maine is one of the golf team in which President Harding is the star performer. Any time they tell the story of how one morning, when Hale was a few minutes late, the president struck up "Hale-Hale—the gang's all here," the moment he have in sight over one of the bunk-

YOUR NERVE CENTER

When the nerve centers are exhausted by worry or disease they must be built up by rest and by added nutrition which healthy blood alone can give them. Here is a case in point:

"If a description of my illness and recovery will serve to help others by showing them the way to health, I certainly want to give it," says Mrs. Hiram Chapman of R. D. No. 2, Halfwayville, N. Y. "A severe attack of pleurisy followed by a bad cold left me in a badly run-down condition. Nothing seemed to give me more than temporary help. My nerves were wrecked. I lost ambition and couldn't do my work. I was subject to headaches which lasted for hours. I had little appetite and what I ate caused much distress. My sleep was broken. I became very dizzy at times and if I attempted to take a short walk my legs gave out."

"After trying many preparations I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the treatment with them. I was so much better after taking one box that I took four boxes in all. As a result I regained strength and ambition. The headaches have disappeared, my nerves are much stronger, and I have a good appetite. I no longer suffer from stomach trouble and feel better than I have for a long time. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me and I am sure they will prove beneficial to others whose symptoms are like mine were."

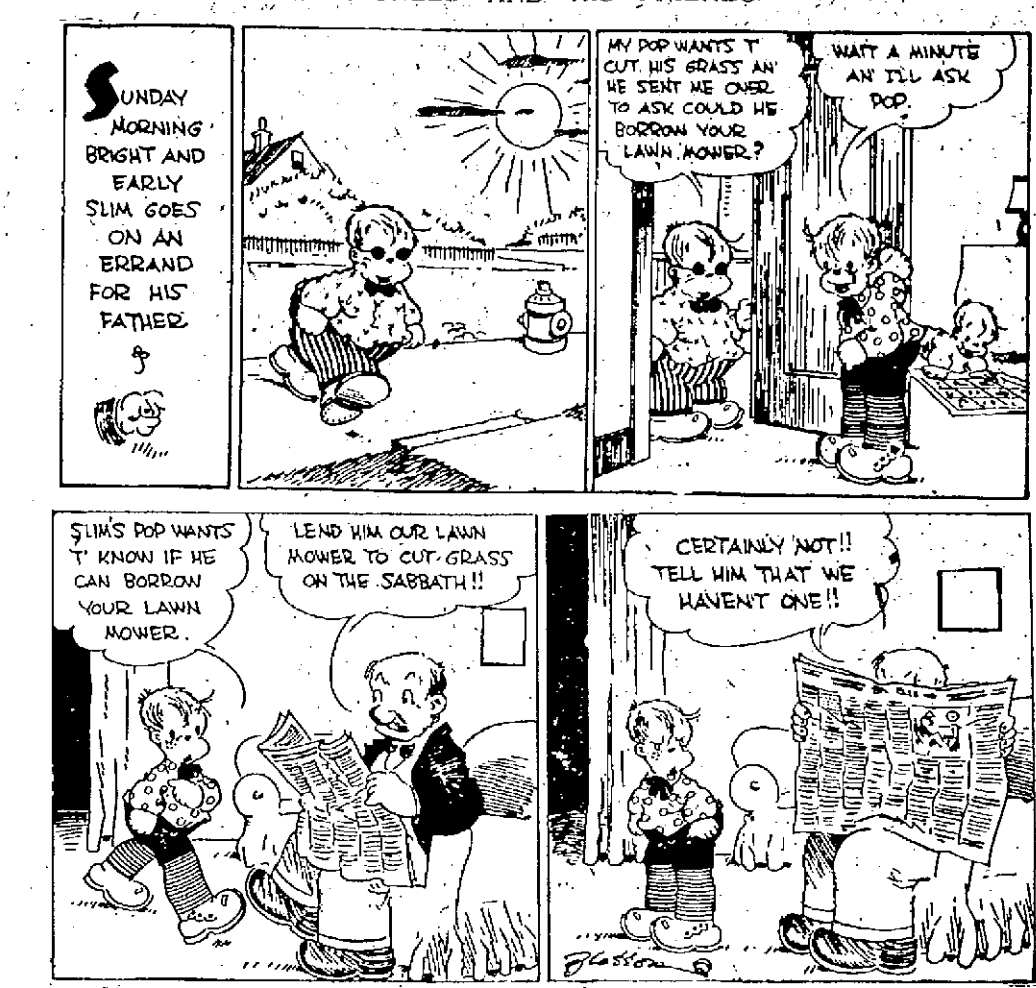

The free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," will interest you. Write for it today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist will send you a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or a receipt of price, 50 cents a box.—Adv.

Secure Relief Pleasantly

Constipation results from the inability of the intestines to eliminate waste matter. Harsh cathartics and drugs of metallic origin force action but they do not correct the cause of constipation.

Early settlers treated constipation with natural laxatives. An extract was made from herbs, roots, barks and leaves with laxative qualities. Dr. E. J. ARMY INSTRUCTOR IS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

MINNEAPOLIS, N. Y., July 22.—The accidental killing of Lieut. John P. Roullet, an army aviator, on the pistol range at Mitchell field, yesterday, was announced today by army authorities.

Lieut. Roullet, it was stated, was killed by a pistol shot fired by Lieut. Robert Purcell, who is taking a course of instruction in the Reserve Officers' camp there.

Lieut. Roullet, one of the best known aviators in the army, had come to Mitchell field recently from the Pershing Cavalry Zone, where he left a bride of a few weeks.

Detailed to instruct reserve officers in the use of small arms, Lieut. Roullet was seated with a group of them yesterday, when Lieut. Purcell drew his pistol from his holster to follow the instructor's comments. The weapon was discharged and Lieut. Roullet, who was wearing a bullet through the abdomen.

Lieut. Purcell lives in Rochester. Maj. Jones later filed his report with the commanding officer, showing the shooting had been purely accidental.

An affidavit made by Lieut. Purcell and the testimony of 23 witnesses indicated Lieut. Roullet did not know the pistol was loaded, said Capt. Walter, adjutant of the field, in commenting on the report.

WOMAN NOT AFRAID FACE INFLAMED WITH ECZEMA

Reports Moonshine Plant Despite Threats to Kill Her and Husband

BOSTON, July 22.—Defying threats of moonshine distillers that her life and that of her husband were in danger, she revealed their activities to the police. Mrs. Alice Weir of Dorchester Avenue, South Boston, yesterday reported to the Boston police that liquor was being distilled in her house at 112 White street, in the Maplewood section of the city.

Acting on her information, Assistant Prohibition Agent Gordon McManis and a squad of prohibition agents and police went to this house yesterday afternoon and seized what they say is the largest distilling plant uncovered in the state since the prohibition law went into effect.

There, the no one in the house at the time the raid was made, and the agents say there were evidences that the "moonshiners" had carried away a quantity of grain and sugar, which they realized the raid was imminent.

Mrs. Weir says she rented the house at 112 White street, 223 Washington street, Boston, she found her tenant and several other men manufacturing moonshine. She and Sugarman had words and she told him that she intended to report the matter to the police. According to her story, Sugarman threatened her life if she took such action.

The house in which the "largest plant" was discovered is in the center of one of the best residential districts of the city. The building was built of two stories and there was no cellar on the first floor. The building was one of 200 and three of 50-gallon capacity were located on the second floor and in the attic. The water system in the house had been extended to the attic and the work might be carried on with less inconvenience.

Find Oil Stoves

Nine oil stoves, of the three-burner variety, were utilized to provide heat, while a quantity of grain and sugar was stored in the cellar. The cellar was divided into two sections. One section was used for the storage of grain and sugar, and the other section was used for the storage of oil. The oil stoves were used to heat the grain and sugar, which was then distilled into liquor.

REFUSES TO PARDON THREE MEN

AUGUSTA, Me., July 22.—The governor and council late yesterday afternoon gave the petitioners leave to withdraw in the pardon cases of Edward P. Cole and Henry Lambert, serving life sentences in the state prison at Thomaston for murder, and Antonio Anderson, who is serving a sentence of not less than two and one-half nor more than three years in the state prison for manslaughter.

At the hearing on the petition for Cole's pardon some weeks ago, Atty. George C. Wing, Jr., of Auburn, sought to establish an alibi for Cole, who was convicted in the superior court of Cumberland county in 1918 for the murder of John F. Steeves of Fairmount.

Atty. James H. Hudson of Guilford, for the petitioners in the case of Lambert, also sought to establish an alibi. Atty. Hudson also presented an affidavit from Robert Arnold of Augusta, who testified that he saw Coleman J. Wesley Allen, whom Lambert was convicted of murdering, had trouble with a tramp, and Atty. Hudson contended that the tramp might have committed the deed.

An alibi was also sought to be established in the case of Antonio Anderson, by Attorney Thomas Leigh of Augusta. The wife of a soldier testified that her husband came home at 8 o'clock on the night that James Walker was attacked and remained at home all the rest of the night.

SCORES BULLSEYE AT 9000 YARDS

BOSTON, July 22.—The first coast defense command, made up of the 12 coast artillery companies of the Massachusetts national guard, under Col. Benjamin A. Shedd, practically completed its two week course of duty yesterday at Fort Andrews, Fort Warren and Fort Strong, in Boston harbor.

With the exception of a few minor drills, this morning, the organization ended one of the most successful drill periods in its long history.

One of the most noteworthy achievements was the success of the heavy artillery firing, according to reports, the shooting done by the men during the last three days would have been creditable to a body of regular army troops. The third and first battalions of the 32nd coast artillery, commanded by Capt. Andrew J. Carr, actually hit the target at a distance of 9000 yards. It is said that this happens only once in several years. The shooting was done with 10-inch rifles. One of the features of the duty was the splendid playing of the 1st corps band, conducted by Warrant Officer William A. Goring, and the 1st band of the band at the conclusion of the parade given in his honor at Fort Warren, and publicly congratulated him, declaring the band to be one of the best in the coast.

Most of the duty has been devoted to hard work, but the social features were not neglected. Last Sunday night the officers of the command entertained the regular officers stationed in Boston harbor, their wives being the special guests, at a dance for the enlisted men held at Fort Andrews. The social features were members of the Moonlight club of Boston, and a group of nurses from Long Island hospital.

Two interesting ball games were played, the 2d battalion team defeating the coast defense team in the first game, and the regulars winning the second, from a team of national guard officers.

The officers of the command have given their cordial thanks to the regular army personnel of the coast defense, not only for their help and instruction, but also for the unusually excellent condition in which all the posts and batteries were found on arrival. In addition to the absence of fog, has been a large factor in the military success of the present tour.

LAD RESCUED FROM CERTAIN DEATH

YORK BEACH, July 22.—Fighting a strong undertow, Lt. Archie Rogers of 1862 Beacon street, Brookline, Mass., saved from certain death yesterday morning a boy whose outlying net at Long Beach had swept more than a quarter of a mile to sea. The former officer plunged through the surf as soon as he heard the exhausted swimmer's cries for help, coming faintly already from a point far beyond that generally reached even by venturesome bathers.

Rogers, 34 years old, is the 15-year-old son of Robert Jenkins, 1218 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, Mass., was the boy he found there, barely able to keep afloat and as helpless to fight the tide as a twig in a swift mill-stream. Once in the grasp of Rogers he lost consciousness, and, according to doctors, was nearly dead when pulled from the water.

Rogers himself admitted he was near collapse before he reached shore. Many persons who rushed to the beach at the shout that someone was being washed to sea and the rescue was one of the most heroic they had ever seen. Rogers said it was all in the day's work. He was in action in France with the motor transport corps.

DETAIL OF LOOP ANTENNA

By PAUL F. GODLEY
America's Foremost Radio Authority
(This is the fifth of a series of articles on the Armstrong super-regenerative receiver.)

The circuits of the super-regenerative set described in these articles will give a very fair signal without using any antenna. If the receiver is set up within a radius of 15 miles of a first class broadcasting station.

When the distance is greater, the use of a loop antenna is essential. This should be constructed to be four feet on each side.

Take two little sticks, a little more than 5 1/2 feet long and fasten them to form a square cross section, as indicated in the diagram.

Insert glass push-buttons at equal intervals to support the wire. A small-sized flexible lamp cord (single strand) is satisfactory for this type of antenna, although any wire between sizes number 18 and number 22 may be used.

About 12 turns will be sufficient for the reception of wave lengths between 200 and 600 metres.

Other Hook-Up

If the amplification of this circuit is not great enough, the hook-up shown in Figure 4 may prove more satisfactory. It is a bit more complicated. The telephone is removed from the regenerative circuit, and placed in the plate circuit of the oscillator tube O.

Under these circumstances, this tube, in addition to being a controller, acts also as a rectifier and amplifier.

These additional actions are possible because of the incoming signal, as generated by the circuit in tube R, appears to modulate the low frequency oscillations of the tube O in accordance with the changes or modulations of the incoming signal.

The potentials generated in the in-ductance L1 are thrown upon the grid of the tube O, thus modulating the oscillations of this tube in conformity with the variations of the incoming signal. Since the tube R at a times a regenerative action, it amplifies, regeneratively, a resultant of its own modulated oscillations.

Disadvantages

The difficulty encountered in this method lies in the presence in the telephone receivers of the high-pitched oscillation previously referred to. In experimenting with the circuit, this oscillation may be ignored or, by adjustment, be so pitched as to become unnoticeable after some time.

But since with the super-regenerative system the greatest amplifications seem to be obtained when low controller frequencies are used, it is desirable to devise a method of getting around the difficulty. This may be done by introducing a "frequency trap" or filter between the telephone and the receiver circuit.

McCORMICK SAYS HE IS ON BUSINESS

PARIS, July 22.—Harold F. McCormick, on his arrival here from America, told the Associated Press he was in Europe for business and a rest, and that he had no intention of seeing Mrs. Alexander Smith Cochran (Mrs. Anna Walicka), whose engagement to the American Harvester magnate has been persistently reported and denied.

Reports were published a few days ago that Mr. McCormick and the singer expected to meet at Carlsbad in August.

POSTPONE AUTOPSY ON CHILD'S BODY

SALFORD, July 22.—The autopsy on the body of 12-year-old Henry McMahon, who was found with his head crushed in and mutilated face in the Great Eastures here, yesterday, was not held this forenoon by Medical Examiner Atwood as planned, but was postponed until 3 o'clock this afternoon. District Attorney Donnell offered the local police the services of his department together with his inspectors, to aid in locating the strange foreign-looking man with whom the boy was last seen going up Highland avenue last Tuesday. While the police believe the boy was murdered by this man, probably a moral degenerate, this will not be officially established until after the autopsy this afternoon.

HAYES DISCHARGES ALLEGED MOONSHINER

BOSTON, July 22.—George Williams, owner of a soft drink store at 692 Cambridge street, Cambridge, charged with illegally possessing about eight quarts of moonshine, was discharged by United States Commissioner Hayes yesterday when it was proved that John Kozlowski, informer, had made false statements in an affidavit on which a search warrant was issued against Williams.

Attorney Daniel A. Shaw, for Williams, questioned Kozlowski regarding his affidavit, which stated that Kozlowski had purchased a drink of intoxicating liquor from an unknown person in Williams' store.

Under questioning Kozlowski admitted selling the store to Williams about a week previous to the filing of the affidavit. He also admitted that the liquor he purchased was ginger ale and not intoxicating, and that it was served to him by Williams and not by an unknown person. The magistrate thereupon found no evidence against Williams and discharged him. Agents seized eight quarts of moonshine at the store on the warrant obtained on Kozlowski's affidavit.

Jacob Rovner and Samuel Marden, 54 Fifth street, Chelsea, and Myer Butcher, 10 Fitzgerald street, Chelsea, were released in $500 bail each for disposition July 28, following a hearing on charges that they manufactured liquor. Agents testified to raiding a shack on Locust street, Medford, recently, and seizing four 100-gallon stills, 2900 gallons of mash and 30 gallons of moonshine.

Milk Delivered By Radio! Youth Claims Wonder Invention

(By N.E.A. Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 22.—Milk can be delivered by radio, claims a 15-year-old radio amateur, says so, and he can conduct experiments to prove it. In fact, he claims he has already accomplished this remarkable feat.

Doubt and ridicule met young Richardson's first announcement that he could transport milk by radio. But the boy repeated his assertion and, in the presence of seven witnesses, performed his experiment for the second time.

At first, Richardson says he succeeded in receiving a quantity of milk by radio from Brooklyn, 260 miles away. Then, at a "public demonstration," he made another "delivery" on a smaller scale.

All who saw Richardson perform this wonder may think he is a trick to it. In their presence he actually sent a quantity of milk over a distance of 20 feet by radio.

This is how Richardson explains the process: "The milk is passed through a vacuum and the spark going through the vacuum unites the atoms of the milk with the electrons and is carried out in the form of an electric current. This applies to the sending of the milk."

The milk is received in the form of an ordinary message and is placed in the phones I use a condenser. When the condenser is filled to capacity it discharges. Atoms discharge easier than the electrons, and therefore the atoms discharge and form the milk."

Richardson saw the actual possibility in it and went to work. He conducted his experiments in a building behind his home. After several weeks

HOWARD E. RICHARDSON of experimenting he succeeded in finding the key to the problem.

STEAMSHIP CRASH TO GET HER LIGHTS

Score of Persons Injured When Boats Collide in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, July 22.—Twenty persons were injured, six of them seriously enough to require hospital treatment, when, in the thick fog which shrouded Boston harbor yesterday morning, the steamship Dorothy Bradford, outward bound on her daily trip to Provincetown, was in collision with the steam collier Arlington, inward bound from Norfolk, Va., with a cargo of coal, just before Castle Island.

Neither vessel was seriously damaged, but considerable alarm and discomfort were experienced by the 350 passengers on the excursion boat, which immediately put back to her dock at 400 Atlantic avenue, where the injured were removed and all who wished had their passage money refunded.

After holding the vessel long enough at her dock for an examination which revealed her to be entirely seaworthy, the Dorothy Bradford proceeded to Provincetown, starting for the second time about 11:30, or two hours after the collision.

In his report to Manager F. T. Pasbody of the Cape Cod Steamship Co., Capt. J. J. Sargent of the Dorothy Bradford stated the vessel ran into a dense fog off Castle Island, with the result the engines were slowed down and then stopped. After passing Castle Island, a whistle was heard directly ahead and the captain ordered full speed astern, but in spite of this precaution the Bradford and the Arlington came together.

The shock of the collision was severe enough to knock many of the passengers from their seats, and a few women became somewhat hysterical.

After the collision, the Arlington backed away and proceeded to her berth at the New England Fuel & Transportation Co.'s plant in Everett, where her cargo of coal was consigned. She was slightly damaged at the port bow, while the Bradford was slightly dented about her bow plates. The collision will be investigated by the United States inspectors of steam vessels, though the accident appears to have been avoidable.

Of the injured persons, six were taken to the Massachusetts General hospital, but all left for their homes before night.

Roxbury Woman Will Receive Service Despite Company's Protests

BOSTON, July 22.—The Edison Electric Illuminating company was yesterday ordered by the commission on public utilities to supply electricity to Mary E. McNell at 9 Bainbridge street, Roxbury, after the commission had considered the allegation that the company had refused to stand back of an agreement made by one of its employees. The company gave as its reason for refusing the service, that the expense as compared with the revenue was prohibitive.

According to the decision of the commission, Mrs. McNell applied to the company last fall for a supply of electricity at her residence. The applications were made through some electricians she intended to employ to wire the house. Acting on their understanding from a telephone conversation with company officials, she gave them orders to proceed with the wiring.

The company refused finally to carry out its promise, on the ground that the wiring men misunderstood the telephone conversation, and because of the front in the ground, unless Mrs. McNell paid $75.00, and later because it estimated the expense of construction would be about $326, and that the amount it would receive from the McNell house would be only $10.

The commission says in its decision that an electric light or gas company obtains its franchise upon the implied condition that it will give reasonable service at reasonable rates to the public. It is organized to supply. "As our statutes provide that the field occupied by one such company cannot be invaded by another without the approval of this department," the decision reads, "we think it follows as a necessary corollary that such a corporation is bound to provide such service as will meet the reasonable needs of the community it exists to serve."

Subjects include interests of the former service man and his family and the foreign work of the organization.

NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y.—"I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly every one around me knew of my trouble and wanted me to try it. So at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N. Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

My, Oh My! How Times Do
Change In the Jumping Flickers!

ESTELLE TAYLOR. SHE HAS "COME HITHER" EYES, BUT THERE HER QUALIFICATIONS AS A SCREEN VAMP SEEM TO END IN "A POOL THERE WAS"

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, July 21.—O tempora! O mores! How you do change in the movies! Once upon a time Theda Bara caused long queues to string out from theatre box offices and mothers to lecture daughters about attending those horrid vamp films and the wit T.H.M.A. to get a thrill or two from the jumping flickers.

And now? Estelle Taylor essays to fill the role that "Theda" in "A Pool There Was." The result is en-nul.

Although the new version of the old vampire theme demonstrates the great technical improvements made in motion pictures, it is in no other way showing any advance over the old film.

Indeed, Theda Bara possessed personality. And Estelle Taylor is entirely lacking in that quality. A film story would require a stronger magnet than she to draw such a strong character as Lewis Stone from the bosom of his family to the "inflection of a pitifuling public."

Miss Taylor is able to move her eyes from left to right and from right to left and there her ability to act stops. That is the chief reason for the new version of "A Pool There Was" being unable to rise above the rank of mediocrity.

The raison d'être of such a story is a woman's power over man. When this power is not shown, the story is unconvincing.

To name one actress as the best on the screen probably would occasion considerable controversy, but after seeing the work of Irene Rich in "One Clear Call" and "A Pool There Was," I believe no other actress on the screen is her equal.

Irene Rich has a face that reflects truly and sincerely the emotions of the heart. She has a heart that responds to the situation of the character she portrays. The result is a perfect sympathy of player with the character enacted, a realism attained in a greater degree than that attained by any other feminine player of the screen.

Irene Rich meets the crisis of her action in the same manner one would expect a sincere, noble woman to meet such crisis in real life. When military matches life, perfection of acting is attained.

Violet Mercereau, recently returned from Europe, was telling the other day how her scenes were taken for "Nora" in which she had a leading part.

J. Gordon Edwards had rented the same bench that had appeared in "Theodora."

"The lions acted like whipped dogs," Miss Mercereau said. "Their experience in 'Theodora' had completely tamed them. Mr. Edwards had to stop production and send for some fiercer animals from the Hagenback collection."

The lions are not unlike some human players. They do their best work in their first picture. Their later pictures show lack of enthusiasm.

AMUSEMENT NOTES
THE STRAND THEATRE

"The Call of Home" Stellar Attraction at The Strand for First Three Days of the Week—Excellent Sunday Attraction

"The Call of Home," from the novel "Home," by George Agnew Chamberlain, and produced in pictures by Gasnier, will be the stellar screen attraction at the Strand for the first three days of the coming week. The other feature will be Shirley Mason in "Little Miss Smiles." For the last part of the week, beginning on Thursday, Mabel Normand in "Head Over Heels," and Frank Mayo in "The Man Who Married His Own Wife," will be the chief contributions. The usual comedy and weekly, as well as special musical numbers by Signor Cesare will help make the bills thoroughly enjoyable.

"The Call of Home" touches a lofty peak of perfection in the skill with which the story has been developed and the numerous thrills and emotions which it contains. The story is a drama of matchless realism. The story from which the picture production is based concerns two boys, Gerry Lansing and Alan Wayne, who are brought up together at Red Hill, the summer home of their people. Gerry, who has a wealthy father, the father of his family and falls into a lethargy of effortless living. He marries a beautiful, frivolous woman whom he never comes to know. Alan has always fascinated him and they drift from flirtation to infatuation. Gerry grows jealous and Alan leaves and goes to sea. Gerry changes her mind before the train starts, however, and comes home. Gerry, supposing that Alan and Alan have eloped, takes a ship and goes to the island of his father's estate. There he becomes entangled with a Spanish girl and settles down to the crude life of the wilderness. A great deal of the story is Gerry's ditch and drowns the Spanish girl. Just as Gerry has met Alan, half dead of fever in the desert, and learned that Alan is in the hands of a band of desperadoes, he is rescued by the mother of his son. There's a reunion and a happy future opened up to the pair.

New York's East Side is known as the world's most interesting neighborhood. Customs are in vogue there that are not found elsewhere in the city. The picture "The Call of Home," the latest picture success, is a story of the East Side. It will make you laugh a lot, a little and no home happy that you are in it. Can you imagine how much sunshine and good can be brought into one's life by a simple little smile? See this picture and find out.

Mabel Normand is coming to The Strand Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "Head Over Heels." In this comedy Mabel arrives in the American theatrical office of Stirling & Lawrence, as a "bird" whom one of the partners discovered abroad. However, she is far from being a star and is nothing more than a fair acrobat. But she has a temperament that explodes all over the office. At the suggestion of the press agent, as a last resort, she is hurried into a beauty parlor and when she emerges she's a real beauty. Now, however, the director sees other possibilities in her, but these center around a matrimonial venture. And once again the girl explodes when she hears of it. It would be unfair to tell what the ultimate outcome is. Suffice to say that it's amusing in the extreme.

"The Man Who Married His Own Wife," in which Frank Mayo stars is a most unusual story. A California shipbuilder, rescues a beautiful woman from a shipwreck and later marries her. He soon loses her love and believing that the only means of his face is responsible, loses his identity and goes east to have his face re-made by plastic surgery. When he returns he is an unknown, and makes love to his own wife and finally re-marries her. See it and marvel.

MR. HANLEY'S GOOD ADVICE

In his statement to The Sun a few days ago Mr. John Hanley, chairman of the local strike committee, offered a very wise suggestion to the Tremont & Suffolk, the Appleton and Boot mills in case they contemplate a reduction in wages. He advised them before declaring any reduction to call in representatives of their operatives and hold a conference with them upon the proposed change. He stated that if this had been done by some of the mills that have declared a reduction, the strikes might have been averted.

In making this statement Mr. Hanley covered a very important point which the mills seem either to ignore or not to have discovered. Some months ago The Sun published a statement from a textile paper showing how strikes were averted in Lancashire, Eng., by just such conferences as have been suggested by Mr. Hanley. If the managers of the mills would take their operatives into their confidence and talk matters over in a business-like way with them, we feel that a great many of the present misunderstandings would be overcome and most of the strikes prevented. Some years ago, or during the war and for a year or two afterwards, it was supposed that the principle of collective bargaining had been conceded by the employers of labor, especially those who run the railroads, the coal mines and the textile industry. This principle worked well during the war and for some time afterwards, but since it seems the employers wished to retract their steps and to revert to the old and arbitrary methods under which the first information the employees have of a reduction in wages is a notice posted upon the walls of the factory in some conspicuous place in which they are sure to see it. That is a very unsatisfactory and disagreeable method of informing any class of workers that the rate of wages under which they are working is to be reduced. If the reduction were merely five per cent., the employees might not raise much objection; but when it is 20 per cent., or one-fifth of the total amount earned, there is certainly a good reason why the operatives should ask for an explanation and want to be shown why such a cut is necessary. After all, the average mill operative is a reasonable person who is willing to be convinced and usually ready to accept what is fair; but when a slap like this is put on him, he is thrown on his face with a spirit of "take it or leave it," he usually becomes nettled and as a rule goes out on strike and stays out until such times as the matter is fully discussed and all misunderstandings removed.

We commend Mr. Hanley's advice to the mills mentioned and other concerns that may contemplate a reduction of wages for any large number of employees.

ORATORY DISAPPEARING

What a very remarkable change has taken place in modes of entertainment in various societies, since the introduction of motion pictures! Some years ago it was a common practice for organizations composed of young men to conduct literary programs made up largely of essays and declamations. The latter constituted a very popular feature and one that was quite helpful to the young men in teaching them the art of expression before an audience. Declamations at such meetings are now very rare and as a result young men gain but little from membership in such societies. It may be recalled that many of our more prominent local politicians gained their first introduction to the public through taking part in programs of this kind and in which they were called upon to make a speech or deliver a declamation.

It would seem that the art of oratory is being sadly neglected even by professional men. Some twenty-five years ago there would be no difficulty in securing a lawyer, doctor or clergyman in Lowell to deliver a first class oration upon almost any imaginable subject. Now, however, it is difficult to find even a lawyer delivering a set speech of any importance. The question arises as to whether this has resulted from the introduction of moving pictures, and the almost complete disappearance of the living drama from the stage. It is true that amateur theatricals were very helpful to those who participated on account of the training the players received in the art of expression. It was also a valuable training for the memory, and it is well known that those who could assume a theatrical role with fair success were always able to acquit themselves creditably when called upon for remarks before an audience.

There has also been an unfortunate change of public sentiment in regard to the classes in the schools and this may be responsible in some degree for the lack of training in elocution and oratory and the elimination of declamations as a feature of entertainment programs. It seems that there is here an opportunity for many organizations of young men to benefit their members by establishing debating societies and popularizing the old methods of making declamations a feature of their entertainment programs. The schools are apparently falling behind in teaching the art of expression in the effective manner in which it was taught in past years. Fairly good work is done at the high school, but unfortunately there are so many special branches that the more essential do not receive the attention that their importance demands. The time has arrived when oratory will soon become a lost art unless the schools and social organizations endeavor to revive some of its best features and thus benefit the rising generation by enabling them to express their ideas upon ordinary topics with ease, force and accuracy.

SENATOR MCCORMICK PLAYED

The women of the republican party are up in arms over the published interview of Senator Modell McCormick, chairman of the republican senatorial committee, in which he stated that while women might be supported for such offices as "superintendent of schools, the town council or other little jobs of that kind, they should not and would not be supported for such high offices as that of United States senator." This statement had reference to the nomination of Mrs. Oleason as democratic candidate for the United States senate in Minnesota.

Hon. Cordell Hull, chairman of the democratic national committee, replies to Senator McCormick's statement by saying that the republican party does not believe in the equal rights of women with men and their equal eligibility for high offices.

Mr. Hull states also, to the discomfort of republican senators, that if Mrs. Oleason had been in the senate where the Newberry case came up, Newberry, who was retained by one vote, would have been expelled, and if she should be elected in the fall, she will insist that the Newberry case be reopened and the senate purged of the disgrace of his retention in spite of his fraudulent election. Mr. Hull clinches his reply to McCormick with this remarkable statement:

"Mrs. Oleason, by character, industry and sheer ability, has made herself the foremost woman of her state and focused upon herself the admiring eyes of the nation. Her name is already a household word. Her influence in the senate would be more than double the influence of Senator Kellogg from the start. In addition she would have a national influence which her opponent has never been able to gain."

"Her election to the United States senate from Minnesota would be the greatest triumph for women since the beginning of suffrage, because she will typify in public life the American woman, wife and mother at her best, and will represent efficiently and ably the women of her state and the country at large in all they have sought and are seeking to achieve in public life."

Evidently Mrs. Oleason is not a frank or a feminist, as Senator McCormick would obviously class every woman who presumes to set herself up on an equality with men as a candidate for public office.

BORROWING TO THE LIMIT

Evidently the city council has made up its mind to stop the dawdling policy that has been in force for the last six months; and possibly Mayor Brown may also have had something in the nature of an inspiration in nominating officials whom he knew would be confirmed by the council. The list of loans authorized at the last meeting exceeds the debt limit, but the amounts voted will have to be slashed at some point inasmuch as the city cannot borrow beyond the debt limit without permission from the legislature. It is not well to borrow up to the legal limit as no city can foresee what dire necessity may come up at any time as a result of future contingencies. The taxpayers are not opposed to public improvements if they see a fair return for the money expended. It is to be hoped, therefore, that a good showing will be made in the expenditure of the loans authorized for permanent public improvements. It seems that the loan of $50,000 authorized for fire apparatus might be omitted and thus keep a measurable distance from the debt limit.

PROSPERITY HERE

Latest report from railroads is that in the week ended July 1 they loaded $75,556 cars of freight. That is about $61,000 more than in the corresponding week last year and $23,000 more than in the corresponding week of 1919, during the big boom.

Returning prosperity must be a mighty healthy individual, after his long rest, to make a showing so good, with coal shipments 65,000 carsloads a week below normal.

"BLUE BOY"

Henry E. Huntington, owner of the famous Galnaborough painting, "Blue Boy," has a library worth $10,000,000. This collection, at San Marino, Cal., consists of rare volumes and priceless old manuscripts.

Yet Henry doesn't get as much pleasure out of these brain mummies as a lad in knee pants gets out of a book on radio or "Huckleberry Finn." Not what you have, but how much enjoyment you get out of it, is what counts.

SAMARITANS

Nine million Russians now are being kept alive on American food. This means, one Russian is being fed by every 12 Americans. It is pretty good Samaritan work considering hard times.

When it comes to foreign charity, we are entitled to be a trifle conceited. There is not quite as much Samaritanism here at home among ourselves as there should be. We seem to sympathize more with suffering at the other side of the earth than that which is found at our own doors.

There has been a great deal of talk about the irregular purchase of two motor trucks and a passenger touring car by the mayor for the city. If there is any question of illegality in the purchase, it is the duty of the city council to investigate and to base such action as it may deem necessary upon the information thus obtained.

No liquor dealer has yet dared to offer Supt. Atkinson a substantial bribe for protection in law-breaking. They know he would not make himself a party to crime by allowing a would-be briber to escape the punishment the law provides for such an offense.

Evidently the council on Thursday night meant to make up for lost time by rushing through a volume of business. The loans voted "net" nearly $300,000, but the amount overtops the debt limit and hence the total must be slashed at some point.

Competitive bidding after the purchase has been arranged is only a farce resorted to for the purpose of covering up the evasion of the law. Is this any business of the city council?

The planning board is the municipal "scheming circle," so to speak. Now gents, get busy. You will have to rise early if you outdo some of the other municipal schemers.

A Pocket Piece

"What are you cutting out of that newspaper?" asked Mrs. Dorkins. "A paragraph about a man getting a divorce because his wife went through his pockets," replied her husband quietly. "What are you going to do with it?" "Put it in my pocket."

Talking But Sleeping

Two Scotch farmers were visiting a town during a big cattle sale and as the hotel where they stayed the night was full up, they were put in the same room. They tossed and turned for some time, but at last they both began to doze. Suddenly Sandy raised his head. "Are you asleepin, Jack?" he asked. "Nae," replied Jack. "Vill ye laze five pound the buy a coo?" coaxed Sandy. "Am sleeping now," said Jack.

Today's Word

Today's word is "coupon." It's pronounced koo-pon, with the accent on the first syllable. The co is pronounced as the oo in food, and the u is short. Ku-pon, with the u long as in Cuba, though often heard, is incorrect. It means—An interest certificate; that part of a ticket which shows something due the holder. It comes from the French coupon, to cut. It's used like this: "It was entitled to a box-seat according to his coupon."

Men for the Rough Work

After the nurse had got her patient, a man, comforted for the night, after she had bathed him and rubbed him and done all the gratifying things that a good nurse does to soothe a sick person, she asked: "Now is there anything more I can do for you, Mr. —?" Is there anything else you want? "Yes, there is, Miss," he replied. "I wish you'd kiss me good-night." In the morning he turned on her heel and started out of the room. "I'll send an orderly," she threw over her shoulder; "we have men here to do all the rough work."—Springfield Union.

The Way to Do It

Mary Gordon was the guest of honor at a chorus girls' tea. "You girls are all beautiful," Miss Gordon said. "I know you must all be a good deal bothered in the streets by men. Always turn these men down—politely but firmly, you know." "That's easier said than done," a blonde chorus girl demurred. "Not at all," said the diva. "Well, now," said the blonde chorus girl, thoughtfully, "suppose a handsome young man should stop his racing car, jump out, and offer you his hand and say, 'Your face is familiar, what would you do to me?' 'I'd answer,' said Miss Gordon, "so are your manners."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Boy's Mother

My mother she's good to me. If I was good as I could be, I couldn't be as good—no, sir! Can't any boy be good as her!

She loves me when I'm glad or sad; She loves me when I'm good or bad; Ah, what's a funniest thing she says She loves me when she punishes.

I don't like her to punish me. That don't hurt—but it hurts to see Her cryin'. Not I cry; an' nen We both cry and be good again.

She loves me when she cuts an' sews My little cloak an' Sunday clothes; An' when my Pa comes home to tea, She loves him more as much as me.

She laughs an' tells him all I said, An' grabs me up an' puts my head; An' I hug her, an' hug my Pa, An' love him purt' nigh as much as Ma.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

In the letter accompanying the draft, the sender, Charles M. Taylor, a former resident of Lowell describes the city of Hankow. He says that it has a population of 500,000, which included about 4000 Americans, Englishmen, Frenchmen, and Russians. The city itself is quite up-to-date for that section and has electric lights, a modern sewerage system, and many other conveniences. Just at present, though, there are warships anchored in the harbor at all times to act as a check on the revolutionary spirit that is raging in China today. Mr. Taylor says that it is a great country for a sportsman as there is good shooting, with ducks of all kinds, partridge and also, he also remarks that they have all kinds of liquid refreshments, from Scotch to peppermint. Let's sail next week.

Of late I have heard more or less talk and many arguments which link together radio apparatus and electrical disturbances. Certain factions claim that the number of thunder storms which have visited this city this summer have been caused by the erection of numerous radio stations. There are others who say the radio apparatus has nothing to do with thunder storms and that such allegations are foolish fancies of those who are seeking to find the cause. There is one point, however, which neither faction dares stop and that is that we are having more storms than usual and that there is more radio apparatus in use than ever before. As Roger do Coverly would say, "There is much to be said on both sides."

The vanishing country store exists in principle in some clubs in the cities, where members solemnly argue world affairs over noonday luncheon. And some of these clubs carry the country store idea so far that they play checkers and pitch rubber chess. The furniture is so expensive that they cannot whittle it as their grandfathers whittled the cracker barrel. Maybe this inability to let off steam by whittling explains the radicalism by some of the also regarded as a way very nervous men of preserving their composure, serving in this relation much the same purpose as hitting the pipe.

In the good old days when street car fares were only five cents and transfer privileges, when the cars used to have both a conductor and a motor-man, passengers took little notice of the conductor's announcement of the different streets along the line. With but one man on a car it is a difficult matter for him to call out the streets, but it is often a great service to the passengers, especially when it is raining and the windows are coated with vapor. This matter was brought to my attention on a Highlands car the other night. The motor-man called out each street but did not get the things together properly to enlighten strangers and those unfamiliar with the different lines would surely appreciate it if it stops were announced.

MINSTREL SHOW AT CAMP WELDMOORS

The Weldmoors minstrels of the Y. W. C. A. summer camp of that name will give a big minstrel show this evening at 7 o'clock. Miss Marie A. Taylor will act as interlocutor and the Misses Nella Cross and Eleanor Anderson as end men. A quartet composed of Alta Plouffe, Marion Cole, Helen McCabe and Helen Taylor will sing two numbers. Soloists will also be rendered by Hazel Currier, Helen McCabe, Jessica Allen, Alice Hart and Alta Plouffe.

Last Thursday was field day at the camp. Three teams, known as the Wanderers, Cherokeses and Mohicans, were won by the Wanderers team. In the afternoon a track meet was held, the half mile run being won by Evangeline Kearns; standing broad jump, won by Ruth Vickery; throwing baseball, by Evangeline Kearns; first relay race, won by Mohican tribe; 40-yard dash, won by Hazel Currier; standing broad jump, won by Evangeline Kearns. The total score was: Wanderers tribe, 37 points; Mohicans, 20 points; Cherokeses, 8 points.

A few vacancies exist at the camp and those wishing to register should make application immediately.

WILL CLOSE CENTRAL STREET BRIDGE

Starting tonight at 1 o'clock and continuing till 6 o'clock Monday morning, the Central street bridge will be closed to vehicular traffic. It is thought at present that the electric cars will be allowed to cross the bridge during this time. Pedestrian traffic will be allowed on the upstream side but none on the downstream side. On Tuesday morning the bridge will be thrown open to every kind of traffic.

This is the second period of week-end work by the E. E. Russell Construction Co. and they plan to complete as much work as possible tomorrow. Last Sunday the preliminary work such as the laying of new steel trusses and huge concrete slabs was done on the upstream side. During this closed time the same work will be completed on the downstream side. At present the plans for accommodating the patrons of the Strand theatre are only tentative. It is planned, however, to build a runway to the entrance of the house and have all the people leave by the Warren street exits.

THIRD MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL FILED

DEDDHAM, July 22.—A third supplementary motion for a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of the murder of a paymaster and his guard at South Braintree in 1920, was filed today in the Norfolk county superior court. The motion, details of which were made public by counsel for the defendants earlier in the week, attacked the testimony of Carlos B. Goodridge, an identified witness, on the ground that he was a former convict and that he committed perjury at the trial in that his real name is Erasmus C. Whitney. The document comprised about 160 typewritten pages.

Quarter Century Ago

From the old Sun:
"Capt. Boycott, whose name has added another word to the English language, is dead. Descended from a long line of Englishmen who believed that duty to those who may serve should be the plan of man's action. The word boycott is less than 17 years old."

"It was invented by Fr. John O'Malley of the village of Deenane, in Conemarragh, Ireland. James Redpath, who was traveling through that section addressing the poor people, was at a loss for a word to express social, political and personal ostracism which the peasantry had adopted against harsh agents and factors as the only lawful means of protecting themselves from eviction. 'Ostracism' was too learned for the average tenant, and Fr. O'Malley, to whom Redpath applied for a simpler expression, instantly suggested 'boycott.'"

"It was at once taken up by the London papers and spread over the world with the speed of lightning. It is an expressive term that was much needed, especially as the 'boycott' is more used in recent years than ever before."

Boycott was a stern man and thought he could do as he pleased with his Irish estate. But Parnell advised the poor people not to give to the landlords what was needed to feed themselves and their families. The advice was followed. Before Capt. Boycott died, he regained his popularity so that the people asked him to run for parliament, but he refused.

Lawrence Hosiery Closed

Says the Sun:
"Notices have been posted in the Lawrence hosiery, stating that the mill will be closed Aug. 1 for an indefinite period. The hosiery has considerable business in the stocking line, but little in the line of underwear. The shut-down is necessitated by changes to be made in the machinery. Mechanics are working day and night. As soon as the changes are made, the mills will reopen."

That was in 1907 and the hosiery has since been fairly prosperous.

Congress and the Tariff Laws

Quarter of a century ago congress had just finished its labors in framing the Dingley tariff bill in special session as here stated by the Sun:
"The extraordinary session of congress, which has just ended, was called by President McKinley two days after he took the oath of office. It met in pursuance of this proclamation at noon, March 15. The special message transmitted by him to both houses on the opening day was brief. It explained the efficiency in the revenue, reviewed the hard issues of the last administration and urged congress promptly to correct the then existing conditions by passing a tariff bill that would supply ample revenues for the support of the government in the liquidation of the public debt. No other subject of legislation was mentioned in the message, and the tariff bill has been the all-absorbing feature of the session."

The Sun of that day performed the remarkable feat of publishing the entire Dingley bill, in two and a half pages in which the schedules were given in parallel columns with those of the Wilson act of 1894 and the McKinley law of 1890. In that case it took congress four months to pass a new tariff law but under the Harding administration it has taken over two years and the bill is still under heated discussion with no indication as to when it will be enacted. William McKinley was elected in 1896 because of his high tariff views and on the slogan of "the full dinner pail."

Death of Rev. Dr. Dana

Following from the old Sun will recall pleasant memories of a clergyman who was once quite popular in Lowell:
"Rev. Dr. Malcolm McGregor Dana died at his home in Brooklyn yesterday. He had been ill for a long time with a complication of ailments, and his death has been hourly expected for several weeks. Malcolm McGregor Dana was born in Brooklyn about 60

Berton Bruley's Daily Poem THE IDLE SHIPS

Our sides are growing rusty, our paint is cracked and flaked, In winter's cold our plates have chilled, in summer heat they've baked; Our boiler-tubes are clogged with dust, our grates are bleak and cold, The water in our bilges is thick with slime and mould; We fret against our moorings and dream of being free To buck again the living waves and sail the pounding sea, To seek far distant harbors about the teeming world, With all our boilers roaring, and all our flags unfurled.

Men made us, men command us, we are but wood and steel, Yet, from the towering masthead down to the stout-built keel, There is a soul within us, a soul that waits the day When we shall slip our moorings and steam upon our way. We do not know the customs that rule the marts of trade, But, oh, we weary of the berths where overlong we've laid! Surely the world must need the freight which we were built to bear; When shall we wander once again the ocean thoroughfare?

Oh, man, our lord and master, we rot here where we lie, While famine stalks across the world and hungry millions die! Fill up, fill up our bunkers with good black coal or oil, And send us forth upon the sea to do our purposed toil; With wheat and corn and wool and steel within our cargo hold, And all the articles of trade that men have bought and sold, We tug upon our cables, we ships that long to be Crashing our way across the deep, the broad, eternal sea! Three Lawrence People Under Suspicion

LAWRENCE, July 22.—Three persons are under suspicion as having set fire to a wood and coal yard, owned by Nathan Heffron, shortly before 5 o'clock this morning, according to Fire Chief Morris. The yard was gutted entailing a loss of about $1000 and a three story tenement block next door was damaged to the extent of about $5000 and three families were driven out scantily clad. A general alarm was sounded.

In 1877 he was sent as vicar of charity and corrections to England to inspect the British prison systems and to report on their standing.

MILL HAZARDS AND HOW TO AVOID THEM

Issued by the Massachusetts Safety Council

By C. H. STOWELL
Safety Engineer

A frequent cause of injury in textile mills, in common with other plants, is the handling of materials or objects used in the ordinary work of the day. Injuries from this cause cannot be prevented by any mechanical safeguards, but can be by care on the part of the worker.

Strains caused by lifting are often very serious, but will not occur if proper methods of lifting are used. Back strains are very common and are usually caused by bending or leaning over to lift a heavy object instead of stooping by bending the knees. The act of bending over puts a strain on the back muscles so that they are in no position to stand the further strain of lifting. By stooping, the strongest muscles of the body are brought into use.

Lifting should be done steadily, without quick, sudden motions. A rope capable of supporting a ton may easily be broken by a much lighter weight if the weight is dropped so as to give the rope a quick jerk. When getting ready to lift, let the muscles settle gradually into their work. It is impossible to strain the muscles if they are properly used.

When lifting with another person, be sure that no sudden, unexpected load is brought upon him by shifting of position or dropping of one end of the load. A loosener is very often injured when putting a new warp on a loom because his helper does not handle his end of the beam properly.

Tools and other small objects should not be left on the floor for others to trip over. Boobies and apoplexies have caused many serious accidents in mills by rolling when stepped on and throwing persons into moving machines. All material should be kept out of aisles and passages. When carrying oil be sure that none is spilled on the floor for someone to slip on. Walk carefully over wet places which have just been cleaned by the scrubber.

Repairmen and others working on stagers or other places above the floor are frequently afflicted with a disease known among safety engineers as "dropsy," that is they have a great tendency to drop tools and other material on the heads of those below. Extra care is necessary in the handling of tools on stagers and those obliged to pass under them should be on the lookout for falling objects.

Many injuries are caused by the falling of material which has not been properly piled, such as lumber, cases or iron castings. Such material should be piled smoothly and evenly and, if the pile is very high, it should grow smaller toward the top. No part of the pile should project beyond the rest. Anyone who has bumped his shins against the spindle of a beam which has been left farther out than the rest in a row can realize the value of this precaution.

Stepping on a nail pointing upward in a board, which always causes a very serious injury, indicates some carelessness in the person injured this way, but more on the part of the persons who left the board in that position, and also some on the part of those who have passed by and not turned the board over or bent the nail down. In a like manner injuries may be caused by projecting bands on a cotton bale, barrel hoops, wire on packing cases.

When pushing trucks or boxes, use care not to strike any person in front. It is much easier for the trucker to avoid striking other employees than for them to avoid the truck. It is well, also, to run the truck wheels along the floor rather than over someone's toes as occasionally happens. Special care should be used in approaching swinging doors through which trucks pass.

Although accidents caused by handling materials are usually more than half of all those happening in a mill, they are very easily prevented by the application of a little common sense in the daily work.

OLD TIME OUTING AND CLAM BAKE

A real old time outing and clam bake with several new features is planned for the annual outing of Lowell lodge, No. 37, B. P. O. Elks which will be held this year at the Martin Luther grounds on August 17. As usual the bake will be preceded by an auto parade through the principal down town streets. Governor Cox and Senator Lodge, both "Bills," have promised to be among those present.

The proceeds of the outing will be turned over to the Christmas charity committee and, from the advance sale of tickets the committee will have a tidy sum to count on as a nucleus for this year's work.

A real live committee has been appointed and it is doing something every minute to put this year's outing across such as no other has been. James L. Kenney is chairman of the outing committee and will be assisted by W. E. Turnbull, James E. Donnelly, Thomas F. Dowd, J. Joseph Gilroy, Thomas F. O'Sullivan, Thomas H. Atkinson, Edward F. Saunders, John M. Sullivan, Henry J. Sullivan, Walter J. O'Brien, Peter Kerrigan, C. K. Nobles, John B. O'Dea, Ervin Libby, John J. Campbell, Burton Plaisted, John E. Donnelly, Andrew J. Dowd, William D. Raygan, Arthur T. Cull, Bernard D. Horan, William S. Maloney, Gus Brosnan and Cecil Dodge.

WILL ATTEMPT TO CHECK DROWNINGS

BOSTON, July 21.—Alarmed at the many drownings in New England, representatives of the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts, the Y. M. C. A. and other organizations met yesterday afternoon at the Massachusetts Safety Council at its headquarters at 8 Beacon street and considered preventive measures. It was voted to appoint a permanent committee to study the problem and to publish matter instructing the public.

In the opinion of the council every person on going into the water should have knowledge of three essential facts: that a person may always float, even when the body is nearly covered with water if he will only lie on his back with his arms outstretched; that every swimmer should familiarize himself with the motions of rescuing a drowning person, and that persons should not go into the water when overheated or after hearty eating. Two hours is none too long to wait after a hearty meal.

It was the opinion of the conference that the public, including public officials, is not yet sufficiently informed as to the prone-pressure method of resuscitation, which requires no apparatus, and plans were made to have the method taught by services of the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts and other agencies, by means of public demonstrations.

It was said at the meeting that when a body is taken from the water even though it should have been in the water 30 minutes or more attempts should be made at resuscitation, and the prone-pressure method should be used unless apparatus is at hand.

GREENHAIGE PLAYGROUND

Yesterday afternoon at the Greenhaige school playground a game of volleyball was played between the Varnum and Greenhaige teams resulting in the score of 20 to 12 in favor of the Greenhaige. Following this, captain ball was played between the two teams with the Varnum the victors, 20 to 1.

C. I. HOOD ESTATE SELLS JOSHUA CLARK FARM

A tract of land comprising substantially 50 acres, located in Andover street between Clark road and Liveoak street, which runs closely parallel with Butman road, has been sold by the C. I. Hood estate to Adolphus J. Landry of Cohasset, who is understood to be an expert in the development of a better class of residential property.

The land formerly was the old Joshua Clark farm, which had been in the Clark family for more than a century until purchased by the late Mr. Hood in 1907. A portion of the property is wholly within the city limits, and there are no buildings upon it. It seems to be well located for residential development as it may easily be entered from Clark road on the east and from the west through two streets, called Eastview and Hoover street, running easterly from Butman road. The transfer was made through the agency of Albert C. Blaisdell of Tewksbury, with George H. Taylor representing the Hood estate. It is said the price paid is considerably greater than the assessed valuation.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

A special town meeting for the voters of Chelmsford will be held in the Centre town hall next Thursday evening at 5 o'clock. The warrant for the meeting contains ten articles calling for appropriations aggregating over $3000. Fifteen hundred dollars is asked for the construction of highways. Other articles are to take action upon making a contract with the Lowell Electric Light Corp. for street lighting; to see if the town will vote to elect a finance committee at the next annual town meeting; the equipping of the new firehouse at East Chelmsford, now under construction, for which $300 is asked; and $200 for the care and maintenance of "the dump," so called, at North Chelmsford.

Goodrich

announces.

new tire prices

—lowest cost mileage ever known

Effective July 20th, Goodrich established a revised price list that is a base line of tire value.

It gives the motorist the buying advantage of knowing that whatever size tire he selects is of the same quality—the Goodrich one-quality standard.

It gives him the longest mileage, the most satisfactory service and the highest quality his money can buy. Results will prove that it is impossible to buy tire mileage at lower cost.

Think of being able to buy

at such prices as these:

SIZE	BASE LINE PRICE	SIZE	BASE LINE PRICE
30x3½ Cl.	$13.50	34x4 S.B.	$30.85

32x4 "	29.15	33x5 "	46.95

New Base Line prices are also effective on Goodrich Fabric Tires:

No extra charge for excise tax. This tax is paid by Goodrich

This revised price list affords the motorist as definite a guide to tire prices as Goodrich Tires are the definite standard of tire quality.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS—BUILDING NOTES

Low-Lying Cottage is Excellent Style

If you like the spirit of the bungalow, but are heartily tired of the restlessness, overdone, pompous ones we see in every hand, you'll find here a suggestion for a low-lying cottage in excellent taste. Nothing can be more restful than this simple roof, with its unobtrusive dormer, and the absence of over-elaborate, heavy details. The lines and proportions of the house are good, and there is a ruggedness about its exterior that makes it picturesque. Vertical battens, with sawed ends, for the second story suggest the Swiss chalet, are a "different" touch. Stucco is used for the first story. The long slope of the roof includes under its protection the spacious front porch, half-screened from public view by a simple, yet pleasing, balustrade.

A good attic, ventilated by louvers, keeps the bedrooms cool in summer. There are three bedrooms, of good size, with plenty of windows, and exceptionally large closets. One has two closets, and a mirror door. Another has a built-in dressing table and chest of drawers. The bathroom at the head of the stairs is convenient to all the house.

Although the layout of rooms is in an economical rectangle, they have pleasing variations from monotonous squares, which are so hard to furnish in a homelike way. There is a sunny alcove at the front of the living room; the dining-room is made semi-outdoor by a pair of china closets in the rear corners. These are very decorative, besides being useful and space saving.

Each room downstairs has windows on two sides. The small vestibule with boxed stair makes for privacy of every part of the house, and for easier heating in winter.

Efficiency is the keynote of the kitchen. It is the size all housewives know as "just right," has cross-ventilation to keep it wholesome and cheery, and an excellent arrangement of its ample cupboards and counters. Downstairs, oak finish is suitable, and should be stained and waxed, never varnished. Oak floors are desirable in the main rooms, because they will stand hard and constant usage, yet keep their good appearance without too much upkeep. For the kitchen, most housewives prefer the clean-looking, durable maple floor, and painted woodwork and dressers.

Upstairs, the bedrooms and bathroom should be paneled in any one of the soft tints now available. Edge-grain yellow pine floors can be used in these rooms with entire satisfaction.

The Cost

Estimates on any building job are likely to vary considerably. The Curtis Service Bureau, Clinton, Ia., designers of The Boxboro, figured that somewhere around $3000 would build this house complete with heating, wiring and plumbing.

Furniture for this house can be purchased from A. E. O'Brien & Co., in Grand St., on reasonable terms.—Adv.

Nomination Papers

Continued

14th, Thomas J. Corbett in the 16th and Victor P. Jewett in the 15th. Each is a sure-enough candidate, however, and will be heard from within a few days. It is thought.

Of the eight candidates in the 14th district, including six democrats and two republicans, three, Richard J. Donohoe, Owen Brennan and Frank J. Danahy have filed papers. All seek the democratic nomination. The first who have taken out papers, but have not filed, are John P. McCarthy and Harry W. Leavitt, republicans, and John J. McKel, Patrick F. Nestor and Charles H. Slower. Four will be nominated and two elected.

There are seven avowed candidates in the 15th district, where three representatives will eventually be chosen. Of this septet only two, Menas, Achin and Bernard, have filed. The late ones are John J. Gray and William N. Fadden, democrats, and Arthur B. Chadwick, Victor P. Jewett and William H. Bamford, republicans. In the 16th district, Gray and Fadden have filed. His papers are not yet in, for he was the last to enter the fight and his steam-roller campaign hardly has generated sufficient forward momentum as yet.

In the 16th district there are seven candidates, all running on the democratic ticket. Of the seven, two, Richard Lyons and Anthony Phomare, have filed papers. Others who have not include Thomas J. Corbett, the present representative, and Donald Donohue, John H. Shea, Lawrence I. Galvin and William H. Duggan.

George Stanley Harvey, republican candidate for district attorney in Middlesex county, has come out with a statement concerning his position on the matter of enforcing some of the laws now on the statute books, particularly those which govern the manufacture and sale of liquor.

In opening, Mr. Harvey says that "all laws of the land should be respected and enforced. They should be enforced alike as to each and every citizen, regardless of poverty, or wealth or social standing."

Continuing, the candidate states that in his opinion the illicit manufacture of liquor is one of the greatest menaces confronting any community. "The so-called moonshine stills are a curse," he says, "and if I am elected, I intend to rid the county of this scourge."

In conclusion, Mr. Harvey speaks as follows:

"If elected, I shall not only enforce the laws, but shall also endeavor to see that trials are expedited and justice speedily obtained."

Strikers Paid Off

mailed at work draw their first pay under the new schedule.

At strike headquarters it was said that close to 1200 men and women received their pay at the watch house window. "We are not expecting any all concerning the number of operatives on strike," said Mr. Hanley, "for you can judge for yourself how many people can be paid off in three hours, when they are in line and all they have to do is hand over their pay check and receive their envelope."

The roadway leading to the office of the mill had been temporarily fenced off on one side, and on the stroke of 6 o'clock the second band of the various demonstrators turned outside the gate, distributing pay checks to their various employees.

As soon as an operative received his or her pay check he or she got in line and then walked to the watch house window, where the pay was given out. The operatives then turned outside the enclosure and left the premises.

Sergeant Maguire and several police officers were present in case of a demonstration or disturbance, but everything went along peacefully. While the strikers of the Massachusetts were being paid off at the watch house, the strikers of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., who are connected with the United Textile Workers of America were receiving their strike benefits at strike headquarters in Central street, the check being distributed by Mrs. Annie Reagan, treasurer of the strike committee.

INSURGENTS ROUTED

Irish Nationals Drive Republican Forces Back Towards Cork Section

DUBLIN, July 22.—(By the Associated Press).—With both ranks of the republican insurgent army broken, through yesterday's capture of Waterford and Limerick, the irregular troops today were reported to be retreating in the direction of Cork.

Telegraph lines from Cork were partly restored yesterday and messages reaching Dublin indicated that the city was comparatively quiet. Travelers arriving in Dublin from Cork said most of the people were strongly in sympathy with the provisional government but that they were overawed by republican troops. The national forces are said to be in complete control of Limerick except for a few insurgent snipers. The city was reported to have suffered little from bombardment.

Many business buildings were said to have been destroyed by fires which spread from the Strand and other barracks, ignited by the irregulars. Most of the insurgent soldiers apparently escaped through holes in the walls of adjoining buildings, making house-to-house tactics from the central points to the outer city. Reports reaching here through the state channels charge the republicans with having looted the Limerick stores of practically everything valuable. The loss is said to have amounted to several thousand pounds.

Mr. Glynn de Veler is alleged to have been in the city for some time but left when the attack began, going to the republican headquarters at Clonmel.

Olympic Makes World's Record

SOUTHAMPTON, July 22.—(By the Associated Press).—The White Star liner Olympic, on its voyage from New York to Cherbourg, maintained for several hours a speed of 27.81 knots, which is a world's record for a passenger liner. The best previous record was that made by the Mauretania on her voyage from New York to Cherbourg, last April, when for several hours during the crossing she maintained a speed of 27.5 knots.

$1000 Reward Offered

SALEM, July 22.—A reward of $1000 for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of the "murderer of Henry McMahon" was offered today by Mayor Dennis J. Sullivan, who took this action without awaiting the result of the autopsy to be performed on the body today. The body of the 12-year-old boy was found by berry-pickers in the great pasture near here yesterday with the skull crushed in and face mutilated. In announcing the offer of the reward the mayor said that while such a step called for action by the city council, he acted after consulting with the city solicitor and members of the council by telephone.

He had been arrested July 15, the court informed him that he was three days late.

John Silva, who was charged with assault and battery on a young woman, was held in $500 bail. As the charge was a serious one, the case was continued to July 27 for further investigation.

James J. Glynn pleaded guilty to the charge of keeping liquor and was fined $100.

The case charging Adam Guilmotte with manslaughter was continued to Aug. 5, so that the court might have the report of the inquest. This case has to do with the auto accident on the Kennebec street bridge on June 21, when Robert C. Clifford was killed.

There were four liquor cases held over to later dates, including the case of George Beadle. He was arrested in Lewis street last night by Officer Liston and related the search of the machine by the officer. At first he refused to move, but when the officer sent a person to telephone for help, he drove to the police station. A search warrant was issued and the officers found six gallons of "shine" in a can and 14 pint bottles in a traveling bag in the machine.

Scranton Mayor Still Hopeful

ora of cities in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania who have been negotiating with miners' representatives and operators in an effort to bring about a resumption of operations. The Scranton mayor has conferred with Mr. Lewis and said today he was certain the miners' leader would attend the conference. He added he did not know whether operators would be present.

Mr. Durkin said he had gone over the entire situation with the president and had explained to him the plan he and his colleagues had in mind for bringing about a cessation of the anthracite suspension. He declined to disclose details of their plan.

"The outlook is very bright," said Mr. Durkin after his interview with the president, "and the satisfaction that substantial progress would be made at Monday's conference."

Final details of the administration's new plan are still incomplete, but it was learned today that the central coal committee would be entirely a government body composed of members from the commerce department, the interstate commerce commission, the justice department and the interior department with Secretary Hoover as chairman.

In addition, the committee would have administrative staffs in the commerce department and the producing coal operators.

The proposed plan for coal distribution now being formulated, Mr. Hoover announced in a statement last night, involves the pooling of coal in each district and the distribution of cases under government authority and direction.

1000 Men Ready

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—More than 1000 national guardsmen are in southwestern and central Pennsylvania coal fields ready to be assigned to strategic points when coal operators attempt resumption of mining activities in compliance with President Harding's order and under Gov. William C. Sproul's promise of full protection.

Strikers Invited

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 22.—Representatives of Indiana miners and operators were invited today by Governor McCray to meet in a joint wage conference here next Tuesday in an effort to settle the coal strike which affects the Indiana bituminous fields.

State Police In Billerica

State Police Seize Tract of Land in Billerica and Locate About Mile From Car Shops

KEEN BLOW TO SHOP MEN

Arrival of State Police Looked Upon as Insult By Strikers

Shops Will Be Guarded—Police Tents Will Accommodate 160 Men

Beginning today and until further notice the Boston & Maine car shops in Billerica will be guarded by the state police, some of whom arrived in the neighboring town this morning. This action was taken following a notification sent to the commissioner of public safety by Gov. Cox yesterday at his service in suppressing disorders and in preserving peace in the vicinity of the railroad shops where strikes are on.

The arrival of the state police in North Billerica this morning was a keen blow to the strikers, who protested energetically, saying that such action was an insult to them, and uncalled for.

An advance guard arrived in Billerica this forenoon and armed with necessary papers they seized a large tract of land owned by a Mr. Carney and located at close proximity to the railroad tracks, a distance of over a mile from the shops. Lumber was brought on the land and upon their arrival the men began the laying of a wooden floor preparatory to the pitching of tents. The strikers learned that eight tents 16 feet square will be pitched, each tent to accommodate between 12 and 20 men. In addition there will be a cook tent.

Just what the plans of the state police are could not be learned, but the strikers believe that the men will be made to do guard duty on the roads leading to the carshops and perhaps in the vicinity of the roundhouse in Middlesex village.

Thomas F. Gelling, a member of the press committee, stated this morning that he cannot understand why such drastic measures should be taken by the governor or the commissioner of public safety, for although the strike has been on two weeks, there has never been the slightest disturbance on the part of the strikers in the vicinity of the plant. "We feel," he said, "that the calling out of the state constabulary is an insult to the dignity of the state."

Arthur D. Prince to Make Official Visit to Masonic Bodies in Far Off China

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Prince will leave Lowell at about the middle of August on a trip that will take them through China, Japan, India and Europe before returning home, which will not be before the first of December. Mr. Prince, master of the Grand Lodge of Masons of Massachusetts, is making the trip as an official representative of this body to Masonic lodges of which are under the absolute jurisdiction of the Massachusetts grand lodge and the oldest of which has a history dating back 60 years. That part of the trip which will take Mr. Prince through Japan and India will be given over to a study of Masonic conditions in those countries, both of which have lodges under English jurisdiction. In India, the Grand Lodge of England has had lodges under its jurisdiction since the 18th century.

Lodges in China that will be officially visited by Mr. Prince include three in Shanghai, one in Peking, one in Tientsin and one in Daifon, Manchuria.

Since 1733 the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts has had the policy of chartering lodges in foreign lands and this has resulted in the advancement of Masonry in many parts of the world. In addition to the lodges in China, there are at present under Massachusetts jurisdiction three lodges in China by a representative of the grand lodge in the Canal zone. The lodges in the Canal zone were visited by Mr. Prince last year.

Mr. Prince's trip is significant because of the fact that there has never been a visit made to the lodges in China by a representative of the grand lodge in 60 years.

The membership of these lodges is composed largely of American residents in China, but the membership of the Peking lodge embraces many of the influential Chinese of the country—leaders in governmental affairs and substantial business men. Dr. Sze, Chinese ambassador at Washington is a member of the Peking lodge as is Dr. Yen, dean of the Yale medical school at Shanghai. Mr. Prince also brought it to mind that seven of the Chinese delegates to the world conference at Washington, also were members of this body.

Remains of Mgr. O'Brien Viewed by Parishioners at Rectory Parlor

Many Moved to Tears on Sight of Beloved Dead—Sunday's Ceremonies

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, the body of the beloved Mgr. William O'Brien, late rector of St. Patrick's church, was brought from his private apartments in the parochial residence to the rectory parlor where an endless line of parishioners and friends of the deceased viewed the remains. To prevent crowding the visitors, directed by ushers, entered by the front door and passed out by the rear. The ushers at the house were in charge of Mr. John E. Adams and consisted of the following: Dr. P. J. Bagley, James J. Brown, James J. Bruhl, P. J. Coffey, Dr. F. F. Donohue, Dr. John H. Donovan, James P. Flannery, Joseph W. Green, John J. Hanlon, Charles J. Leary, Arthur H. McDermott, Dr. P. J. Meehan, Alcide A. Parent and John J. Sullivan. These men will also serve in the same capacity during the services at the church.

Drive For New Athletic Field Rapidly Assumes Definite Shape

Nineteen classes of the Lowell high school, from the extremes of 1872 and 1920, have formed teams for the purpose of soliciting funds for the campaign to raise $20,000 for the erection of an athletic field at Spaulding park.

There are many other class teams yet to be formed, of course, but the work is progressing rapidly and by the middle of next week it is expected that each class will have its proper representation in the drive.

BIG REAL ESTATE DEAL

Land and Buildings Assessed for $90,000 Included in Recent Transfer

One of the biggest real estate transactions in the city in a long time took place recently when the remainder of the Patrick Dempsey estate, consisting of dwelling houses in Dempsey's place off Salem street as well as in Market and Worthen streets, was transferred to Miss Ella M. Connell, who is listed in the Lowell directory as being a clerk at the Five Cents Savings bank and residing at 23 Lamb street. The property sold is assessed for close to $90,000.

The property involved in the sale includes eight buildings comprising 42 tenements, located at 116-142 Salem street and 1-19 Dempsey's place.

The property involved in the sale consists of 50 tenements and two stores as well as 41,695 square feet of land. It is as follows: Eight buildings comprising 42 tenements and 3,295 square feet of land located at 116-142 Salem street and 1-19 Dempsey's place, the assessed valuation being $54,250. Buildings at 314-324 Market street and 184-198 Worthen street, comprising eight tenements and two stores. The land area of this parcel is 7400 square feet and the assessed valuation is $26,700.

Nomination Papers Coming in Slowly at Office of the Election Commissioners

Nomination papers are being filed for certification very slowly at the office of the board of election commissioners, with the final day for filing less than two weeks distant.

In all, in the three representative districts that embrace the nine Lowell wards, 22 candidates have announced themselves and have taken out papers in the interests of their candidacies. However, of this total, only seven have filed papers for certification, or less than one-third of those who have sent their hats into the political ring.

It is believed that the next two weeks, prior to Aug. 4, which is the last day for filing in this city, will see the majority of the delinquents in line, for it is known that practically all of the malready are in the full swing of their campaigns.

Of the representatives now serving from Lowell, who are running for reelection, Owen E. Brennan in the 11th and Adelard Bernard and Henry Achin, Jr., in the 15th are the only ones who have filed their papers. The present incumbents yet to be heard from, although papers have been taken out for them, are Charles H. Brown in the 11th, and Charles H. Brown in the 15th.

COAL ON WAY FROM ENGLAND

U. S. Shipping Board Announces 40 Coal-Laden Ships Rushing Here

British Vessels Have Also Been Chartered to Replenish Slender Supply

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The U. S. shipping board has joined in the endeavors to furnish the country with coal. Vice President Smith of the board's emergency fleet corporation announced today that 40 ships with a coal carrying capacity of 300,000 tons monthly had been chartered to import coal from Wales and the east coast of England. These vessels in practically every instance now are in European waters and soon will begin arriving at Atlantic ports with their cargoes. Mr. Smith said. Thirty-one British vessels also have been chartered in the coal carrying trade and should be able to bring 200,000 tons a month additional to American ports.

Vice President Smith's announcement added that if the government so desired approximately 300 ships belonging to the shipping board and now tied up because of the surplus of ocean tonnage could be placed in operation and thus if the coal were available bring 1,500,000 tons monthly to American ports in addition to the supplies to be brought by the vessels now in service.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—In an effort to bring about resumption of mining operations in the anthracite coal fields, a conference in which John J. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, is expected to participate, will be held Monday either in Scranton, Pa., or New York. John F. Durkin, mayor of Scranton, announced today after he had conferred with President Harding regarding the situation.

Three Gun-Men Rob Somerville Man at Pistol Point in Broad Daylight

SOMERVILLE, July 22.—Three armed men today entered the offices of the H. M. Hillson Co., tinware manufacturers, in East Somerville, held up one of the proprietors and escaped with the payroll of $1775. While two of the bandits stood guard, a third entered the office and at the point of his revolver demanded that G. Irving Hillson, one of the proprietors, hand over the money on his desk. Mr. Hillson complied. Several employees were in the room at the time. In a tinbox on the desk were the individual pay envelopes of the company's employees. The office cash was in another box. The gunman backed out of the office and the three ran around a corner to a waiting automobile and escaped.

WASHINGTON, July 22 (By the Associated Press)—Chairman Sam W. Hooper of the railroad labor board, arriving here today in response to a summons from the White House, went into conference with President Harding prepared to give the executive a complete survey of the railroad strike situation and the recent negotiations conducted with a view to bringing about a settlement.

After the conference between the president and Chairman Hooper had been in progress nearly an hour, Chairman Cummins of the senate interstate commerce committee, who with other committee members, conferred with Eastern railroad executives on the strike situation Thursday night, was called to the White House.

Senators Called
Senators Watson of Indiana and Kellogg of Minnesota, the other members of the interstate commerce committee who conferred with the railroad executives, also were summoned to the White House.

The labor board chairman went to the White House soon after arriving from Chicago. It was indicated he might have a statement to make after seeing the president.

Almost coincident with Mr. Hooper's arrival, the American Federation of Labor made public telegrams sent by the labor legislative representatives of the National and International unions, located in Washington, to B. J. Jell, leader of the rail strike forces, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, pledging sympathy and co-operation in the respective strikes of the railroad shop and mine workers. The telegrams were signed by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as chairman of the legislative representatives' conference, and said:

"Reports made to the conference from various sections of the country indicate a rising sympathy in favor of the men who are fighting for right and justice."

State Police on Guard
POSTON, July 22.—Details of state police were on duty at several railroad centers in Massachusetts today. Their mobilization was ordered last night by Governor Cox in a communication to Commissioner of Public Safety Alfred F. Foote, directing that the men be employed "for service in suppressing disorders and in preserving the peace within the commonwealth."

The governor referred especially to rail centers at East Deerfield and Billerica, but details of police were sent

The Senators Go Swimming Before Breakfast

Vice President Coolidge Following the Simple Life—Floor Leaders Can't Get Away—Miss Robertson Sends Bombshell Into Women's Camp

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, July 22.—Can you come at 10 this morning and have a swim? It is a not infrequent telephone message from one man to another in the splendid residential section of Washington where great marble palaces flank shaded parks and squares and circles. For nowadays a swimming pool is regarded as essential in the make-up of millionaire establishments in a city where 100 degrees in the shade in the lower town sections is no uncommon occurrence during the long summer through which congressmen live in session. Take for instance Henderson castle, as it is styled by its owners, who by the way at one time succeeded in getting 10th street changed to "Avenue of the Presidents." In order to give their residence a more distinctive address.

The Hendersons have one of the finest pools in the city and are very generous in sharing it with persons of high official rank whose duties tie them close to the capital through months of intense heat. Among those who swim in the Henderson pool are Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge who are living a quiet family life in Washington in spite of the fact that they make a hotel their headquarters instead of taking a house. "We couldn't afford to take a house," said Mrs. Coolidge one day in referring to her Washington life, "so we make our apartment as home like as we can, and find it very delightful." And it is a fact that for houses are prohibitive in any section of the city where a man holding the second highest office in the country could properly make his home. It's a pity there isn't a vice presidential mansion as well as an executive mansion. Surely the dignity of the position demands such a provision.

Senators Bathe Before Breakfast

Bathing before breakfast down at the basin, at the end of the bay on the borders of Potomac park, is a popular diversion for senators and members of congress, who take along their families and join the crowd in an early morning dip. Then, too, congress has provided bath houses in the capital and this year a very small pool was dedicated to the vice president as a gift. The vice president is a man of large stature, complains it's not long enough to give him a fair stretch-out, but Norris is one of the champion swimmers of the senate.

Some of the members hold fast to both land and swimming, while a few tread down to the White House tennis courts daily and get their exercise in the early morning before the sun scorches everything in sight.

Senator Frederick Hale of Maine is one of the golf team in which President Harding is the star performer. Any tell the story of how one morning, when Hale was a few minutes late, the president struck up "Hale-Hale—the gang's all here," the moment he have in sight over one of the bunk-

YOUR NERVE CENTER

When the nerve centers are exhausted by worry or disease they must be built up by rest and by added nutrition which healthy blood alone can give them. Here is a case in point:

"If a description of my illness and recovery will serve to help others by showing them the way to health, I certainly want to give it," says Mrs. William Chapman of R. D. No. 2, Baldwinville, N. Y. "A severe attack of pleurisy followed by a bad cold left me in a badly run-down condition. Nothing seemed to give me more than temporary help. My nerves were wrecked. I lost my appetite and couldn't do my work. I was subject to headaches which lasted for hours. I had little appetite and what I ate caused such distress that my sleep was broken. I became very drowsy at times and I attempted to take a short walk my legs gave out."

"After trying many preparations, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began the treatment with them. I was so much better after taking one box that I took four boxes in all. As a result I regained strength and ambition. The headaches have disappeared, my nerves are much stronger and I have a good appetite. I no longer suffer from nervousness and feel better than I have for a long time. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me and I am sure they will prove beneficial to others whose symptoms are like mine were."

The free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," will interest you. Write for it today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 60 cents a box—Adv.

The truck, as it overturned, struck a soft dirt. The driver had turned out to pass a machine headed in the opposite direction.

ARMY INSTRUCTOR IS ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

MINNEAPOLIS, N. Y., July 22.—The accidental killing of Lieut. John P. Roulet, an army aviator, on the pistol range at Mitchell field, yesterday, was announced today by army authorities.

Lieut. Roulet, who is slated to be killed by a pistol shot fired by Lieut. Robert Purcell, who is taking a course of instruction in the Reserve Officers' camp there.

Lieut. Roulet, one of the best-known aviators in the army, had come to Mitchell field recently from the Panama Canal Zone, where he left a bride of a few weeks.

Detained to instruct reserve officers in the use of small arms, Lieut. Roulet was seated with a group of them yesterday when Lieut. Purcell drew his pistol from its holster to follow the instructor's commands. The weapon was discharged and Lieut. Roulet collapsed, with a bullet through the abdomen.

Lieut. Purcell lives in Rochester.

Mal. Jones later filed his report with the commanding officer, stating the shooting had been purely accidental.

An affidavit made by Lieut. Purcell and the testimony of 23 witnesses indicated Lieut. Purcell did not know the pistol was loaded, said Capt. Baker, adjutant of the field, in commenting on the report.

The governor also appealed last night to public safety officials throughout Massachusetts to preserve to each individual "his inalienable right to work."

In his proclamation the governor said he believed that the local forces would be able to handle the situation capably, but added that "Massachusetts cherishes its good name, and is ready now to use every force at its command, whether civil or military."

Reports Moonshine Plant Despite Threats to Kill Her and Husband

BOSTON, July 22.—Defying threats of moonshine distillers that her life and that of her husband were in danger if she revealed their activities to the police, Alice Weir of Dorchester avenue, South Boston, yesterday reported to the Malden authorities that liquor was being illegally manufactured in her house at 112 Walte street, in the Mapewood section of the city.

Information, Assistant Prohibition Agent Gordon McManis and a squad of prohibition agents and police went to the house yesterday afternoon and set what they report is the largest distilling plant uncovered in the state since the prohibition law went into effect.

There was no one in the house at the time the raid was made, and the agents said there were evidences that the "moonshiners" had carted away a quantity of grain and sugar, when they reached the house.

Mrs. Weir says she is the housewife to Max Sugarmann of 923 Washington street, Boston. She went to Malden Thursday and Saturday and found her husband and several other men manufacturing moonshine. She and Sugarmann had words and Mrs. Weir told him that the police would report the matter to the police. According to her story, Sugarmann threatened her life if she took such action.

The house in which the "largest plant" was discovered is in the center of one of the best residential districts of Malden. The building was built about 1900 and had a capacity of two beds and there was no clothing on these. The stills, one of 400, one of 200 and three of 60-gallon capacity, were located on the second floor and in the attic. The water system in the house had been extended to the attic so that the work might be carried on with less inconvenience.

Find Oil Stoves

Nine oil stoves, of the three-burner variety, were utilized to provide heat, while scores of empty bags in the cellar held quantities of grain and sugar that had been consumed in making small amount of grain and sugar was seized, but the police are of the opinion that a much larger quantity of the material was carried away on Thursday evening, following Mrs. Weir's visit to the house.

REFUSES TO PARDON THREE MEN

AUGUSTA, Me., July 22.—The governor and council late yesterday afternoon gave the petitioners leave to withdraw in the pardon cases of Edward E. Cole and Henry Lambert, serving life sentences in the state prison at Thomaston for "murder, and Antonio Andrade, who is serving a sentence of not less than two and one-half nor more than three years in the state prison for manslaughter.

At the hearing on the petition for Cole's pardon some weeks ago, Atty. George C. Wing, Jr., of Auburn, sought to establish an alibi for Cole, who was convicted in the superior court of Cumberland county in 1906 for the murder of John P. Steeves of Falmouth.

Atty. James H. Hudson of Guilford, for the petitioners in the case of Lambert, also sought to establish an alibi. Atty. Hudson also presented an affidavit from Robert Arnold of Augusta, who testified that on one occasion "J. Wesley Allen, whom Lambert was convicted of murdering, had trouble with a tramp, and Atty. Hudson contended that the tramp might have committed the deed.

An alibi was also sought to be established in the case of Antonio Andrade by Attorney Thomas Leigh of Augusta. The wife of Andrade testified that her husband came home at 5 o'clock on the night that James Walker was attacked and remained at home at the rest of the night.

LAD RESCUED FROM CERTAIN DEATH

YORK BEACH, July 22.—"Lighting a strong undertow, Lt. Archie Rogers of 1862 Beacon street, Brookline, Mass., saved from certain death yesterday morning a boy whom the outgoing tide at Long Beach had swept more than a quarter of a mile to sea. The former officer plunged through the surf as soon as he heard the exhausted swimmer's cries for help, and, faintly already from a point far beyond that generally reached even by venturesome bathers.

Robert Jenkins, the 15-year-old son of Charles Jenkins, 1246 Commonwealth avenue, Allston, Mass., was the boy he found there, barely able to keep afloat and as helpless to fight the tide as a swimmer in a swift mill stream. Once in the grasp of Rogers he lost consciousness, and, according to doctors, was nearly dead when pulled from the water.

Rogers himself admitted he was near collapse before he reached shore. Many persons who rushed to the beach at the shout that someone was being washed to sea and the rescue was one of the most heroic they had ever seen. Rogers said it was all in the day's work. He was in action in France with the motor transport corps.

"Cover mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze. If you don't, you'll spread disease."

If everyone would take this precaution, there would be fewer epidemics of influenza. In the earliest stages, if you hope to avoid a disagreeable experience, in a well-ventilated room; have your body well-warmed, and be sure to have your hands more freely.

At the beginning of a cold, there is no better or safer remedy than the use of Dr. F. A. Allen's Medicine. More Complicated Hook-Up With Filter Affords Greater Amplification

DETAIL OF LOOP ANTENNA

By PAUL F. GODFREY
America's Foremost Radio Authority
(This is the fifth of a series of articles on the "Armstrong super-regenerative receiver.")

The circuits of the super-regenerative receiver described in these articles will give a very fair signal without using any antenna. If the receiver is set up within a radius of 15 miles of a first class broadcasting station.

When the distance is greater, the use of a loop antenna is essential. This should be constructed to be four feet on each side.

Take two little sticks, a little more than 5 1/2 feet long and fasten them to form a square cross section, as indicated in the diagram.

Insert glass push-buttons at equal intervals to support the wire.

Reports were published a few days ago that Mr. McCormick and the singer expected to meet at Carlsbad in August.

(single strand) is satisfactory for this type of antenna, although any wire between sizes number 16 and number 22 may be used.

About 12 turns will be sufficient for the reception of wave lengths between 300 and 600 meters.

Other Hook-Up

If the amplification of this circuit is not great enough, the hook-up shown in Figure 4 may prove more satisfactory. It is a bit more complicated. The telephone circuit and antenna are removed from the regenerative circuit and placed in the plate circuit of the oscillator tube O.

Under these circumstances, this tube, in addition to being a controller, acts also as a rectifier and amplifier.

These additional actions are possible because of the incoming signal, as generated by the circuits in tube R, appears to modulate the low frequency oscillations of the tube O in accordance with the changes or modulations of the incoming signal.

The potentials generated in the in-ductance L1 are thrown upon the grid of the tube O, thus modulating the oscillations of this tube in synchronism with the variations of the incoming signal. Since the tube is at all times in regenerative action, it amplifies, regeneratively—a resultant of its own modulated oscillations.

Disadvantages

The difficulty encountered in this method lies in the presence in the telephone receivers of the high-pitched oscillation previously referred to. In experimenting with the circuit, it is desirable to ignore or, by adjustment, be so pitched as to become unnoticeable after a time.

But since with the super-regenerative system the greatest amplification seems to be obtained when low controller frequencies are used, it is desirable to devise a method of getting around the difficulty. This may be done by interposing a "frequency trap" or filter between the telephone and the receiver circuits.

HAYES DISCHARGES ALLEGED MOONSHINER

BOSTON, July 22.—George Williams, owner of a soft drink store at 602 Cambridge street, Cambridge, charged with illegally possessing about eight quarts of moonshine, was discharged by United States Commissioner Hayes yesterday when it was proved that John Kozlowski, informer, had made false statements in an affidavit on which a search warrant was issued against Williams.

Attorney Daniel A. Shea, for Williams, questioned Kozlowski regarding his affidavit, which stated that Kozlowski had purchased a drink of intoxicating liquor from an unknown person in Williams' store.

Under questioning Kozlowski admitted selling the store to Williams about a week previous to the filing of the affidavit. He also admitted that the liquor he purchased was ginger ale and not intoxicating, and that it was served to him by Williams and not by an unknown person. The magistrate thereupon found no evidence against Williams and discharged him. Agents seized eight quarts of moonshine at the store on the warrant obtained on Kozlowski's affidavit.

Jacob Rovner and Samuel Marden, 56 Fifth street, Chelsea, and Myer Butler, 10 Fitzgerald street, Chelsea, were released in $500 bail each for disposition July 28, following a hearing on charges that they manufactured liquor. Agents testified to raiding a shack on Locust street, Medford, recently, and seizing four 100-gallon stills, 490 gallons of mash and 80 gallons of moonshine.

Milk Delivered By Radio! Youth Claims Wonder Invention

(By N.E.A. Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 22.—Milk can be delivered by radio!

Howard E. Richardson, 15-year-old radio amateur, says so, and he can conduct experiments to prove it. In fact, he claims he has already accomplished this remarkable feat.

Doubt and ridicule met young Richardson's first announcement that he could transport milk by radio. But the boy repeated his assertion, and in the presence of seven witnesses, performed his experiment for the second time.

At first, Richardson says he succeeded in receiving a quantity of milk by radio from Brooklyn, 30 miles away! Then, at a "public demonstration," he made another "delivery" on a smaller scale.

All who saw Richardson perform this wonder say there is no trick to it. In their presence he actually sent a quantity of milk over a distance of 20 feet by radio.

This is how Richardson explains the process: "The milk is passed through a vacuum and the spark going through the vacuum unites the atoms of the milk with the electrons and is carried out in the form of an electric current. This applies to the sending of the milk."

"The milk is received in the form of an ordinary message and in place of the phone I use a condenser. When the condenser is filled to capacity it discharges. Atoms discharge easier than the electrons, and therefore the atoms discharge and form the milk."

A fantastic magazine article started Richardson on his radio experiments. The young amateur read an imaginative yarn centered about the delivery of milk by radio.

Richardson saw the actual possibility in it and went to work. He conducted his experiments in a building behind his home. After several weeks of experimenting he succeeded in finding the key to the problem.

STEAMSHIP CRASH TO GET HER LIGHTS

Score of Persons Injured When Boats Collide in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, July 22.—Twenty persons were injured, six of them seriously enough to require hospital treatment, when, in the thick fog which shrouded Boston harbor yesterday morning, the steamship Dorothy Bradford, outward bound on her daily trip to Provincetown, was in collision with the steam tug Arlington, inward bound from Norfolk, Va., with a cargo of coal, just below Castle island.

Neither vessel was seriously damaged, but considerable alarm and discomfort were experienced by the 250 passengers on the excursion boat, which immediately put back to her dock at 400 Atlantic avenue, where the injured were removed. All who wished had their passage money refunded.

After holding the vessel long enough at her dock for an examination which revealed her to be entirely seaworthy, the Dorothy Bradford was towed to Provincetown, starting for the second time about 11:30, or two hours after her original departure.

In his report to Manager F. T. Peabody of the Cape Cod Steamship Co., Capt. L. J. Sargent of the Dorothy Bradford stated the vessel ran into a dense fog off Castle island, with the result the engines were slowed down and then stopped. After passing Castle island, a whistle was heard at a distance, and the captain ordered full speed astern, but in spite of this precaution the Bradford and the Arlington came together.

The shock of the collision was severe enough to knock many of the passengers from their seats, and a few women became somewhat hysterical. After the collision, the Arlington backed away and proceeded to her berth at the New England Fuel & Transportation Co.'s plant in Everett, where her cargo of coal was consigned. She was slightly damaged on the port bow, while the Bradford was slightly dented about her bow plates. The collision will be investigated by the United States inspectors of steam vessels, though the accident appears to have been unavoidable.

Of the injured persons, six were taken to the Massachusetts General hospital, but all left for their homes before night.

Roxbury Woman Will Receive Service Despite Company's Protests

BOSTON, July 22.—The Edison Electric Illuminating company was yesterday ordered by the commission on public utilities to supply electricity to Mary E. McNeil at 9 Bainbridge street. Roxbury, after the commission had considered the allegation that the company had refused to stand back of an agreement made by one of its employees. The company gave as its reason for refusing the service, that the expense as compared with the revenue was prohibitive.

According to the decision of the commission, Mrs. McNeil applied to the company last fall for a supply of electricity at her residence. The applications was made through some electricians she intended to employ to wire the house. Acting on their understanding from a telephone conversation with company officials, she gave them orders to proceed with the wiring.

The company refused finally to carry out its promise, on the ground that the wiring men misunderstood the telephone conversation, and because of the frost in the ground, unless Mrs. McNeil paid $75.00, and later because it estimated the expense of construction would be about $336, and that the amount it would receive from the McNeil house would be only $40.

The commission says in its decision that an electric light or gas company cannot refuse to supply electricity on the condition that it will give reasonable service at reasonable rates to the public. It is organized to supply. "As our statutes provide that the field occupied by one such company cannot be invaded by another without the approval of this department, the decision, in this case, follows as a necessary corollary that such a corporation is bound to provide such service as will meet the reasonable needs of the community it exists to serve."

NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y.—"I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me."

I was tired out all over and was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleep nights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly everyone around me knew of my medicine and wanted me to try it.

So I last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N.Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

My, Oh My! How Times Do Change In the Jumping Flickers!

ESTELLE TAYLOR. SHE HAS "COME HITHER" EYES, BUT THERE HER QUALIFICATIONS AS A SCREEN VAMP SEEM TO END IN "A POOL THERE WAS"

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, July 21.—O tempora! O mores! How you do change in the movies! Once upon a time Theda Bara caused long queues to string out from theatre box offices and mothers to lecture daughters about attending those horrid vamp films and the wick T.H.M.s. to get a thrill or two from the jumping flickers.

And now? Estelle Taylor essays to fill the role that was Theda's in "A Pool There Was." The result is enigmatical.

Although the new version of the old vampire theme demonstrates the great technical improvements made in motion pictures, it is no other way shows any advance over the old film.

Indeed, Theda Bara possessed personality. And Estelle Taylor is entirely lacking in that quality. A film story would require a stronger magnet than she to draw such a strong character as Lewis Stone from the bosom of his family to the satisfaction of a palpitating public.

Miles Taylor is able to move her eyes from left to right and from right to left and there her ability to not stop. That is the chief reason for the new version of "A Pool There Was" being unable to rise above the rank of mediocrity.

The reason d'être of such a story in a woman's power over man. When this power is not shown, the story is unconvincing.

To name one actress as the best on the screen probably would occasion considerable controversy, but after seeing the work of Irene Rich in "The Call of Home" and "A Pool There Was" I believe no other actress on the screen is her equal.

Irene Rich has a face that reflects truly and sincerely the emotions of the heart. She has a heart that responds to the situation of the character she portrays. "The result is a perfect sympathy of player with the character enacted, a realism attained in a greater degree than that attained by any other feminine player of the screen."

Irene Rich meets the crisis of film action in the same manner one would expect a sincere, noble woman to meet such crisis in real life. When mimicry matches life, perfection of acting is attained.

Violet Morrisseau, recently returned from Europe, was telling the other day how lion scenes were taken for "Nero" in which she had a leading part.

J. Gordon Edwards had rented the same beach that had appeared in "Theodora."

"The lions acted like whipped dogs," Miss Morrisseau said. "Their experience in 'Theodora' had completely tamed them. Mr. Edwards had to stop production and send for some fierce animals from the Hagenback collection."

The lions are not unlike some human players. They do their best work in their first pictures. Their later pictures show lack of enthusiasm.

Cats and Flashes

Rupert Hughes has devised a director's finder that enables him to see a scene exactly as it will appear through the camera lens. The camera finder used heretofore showed the images inverted.

Tom Forman will play a leading role in as well as direct "White Shoulders," starring Katherine MacDonald.

"Grandma's Boy," Harold Lloyd's last comedy, was booked in all foreign countries before its general release in America to foil the pirates who steal prints and exhibit them in foreign countries before they are released through regular channels.

David Imboden, new Goldwyn actor, once was a captain of the swimming team of Cornell and Wisconsin universities and held many intercollegiate swimming records.

Qua Savilla, who supports Mary Pickford in "Tess of the Storm Country," is 72 and has been acting 43 years. Forrest Robinson, also in the cast, has been an actor 47 years.

AMUSEMENT NOTES THE STRAND THEATRE

"The Call of Home" Stellar Attraction at The Strand for First Three Days of the Week—Excellent Sunday Attraction

"The Call of Home" from the novel "Home" by George Agnew Chamberlain, and produced in pictures by Gasnier, will be the stellar screen attraction at The Strand for the first three days of the coming week. The other feature will be Shirley Mason in "Little Miss Smiles." For the last part of the week, beginning on Thursday, Mabel Normand in "Head Over Heels" and Frank Mayo in "The Man Who Married His Own Wife" will be the chief contributions. The usual comedy and weekly, as well as special musical numbers by Mabel Normand will help make the bills thoroughly enjoyable.

"The Call of Home" touches a lofty peak of perfection in its story, which the story has been developed and the numerous thrills the piece embraces—chief of which is a flood scene of matchless realism. The story from which the picture production is based, concerns two boys, Gerry Lansing and Alan Wayne, who are brought up together at the Hill, the summer home of their people. Gerry, who has wealth, follows the traditions of his family and falls into a lethargy of efficiency, living life as a machine. Alan, a beautiful, frivolous woman whom he soon comes to love, Alan has always fascinated Alan and they drift from flirtation to infatuation. Gerry grows jealous and Alan leaves and goes to Alan. She changes her mind just before the train starts, however, and comes home. Gerry, supposing that Alan and Alan have eloped, takes a trip for foreign climes, leaving no trace of himself. There he becomes a fortune hunter, and a girl who is tied down to the crude life of the wilderness. A great flood carries away Gerry's ditch and drowns the Spanish girl, just as Gerry has met Alan. Alan, dead of fever in the desert, and learned that Alan is blameless and has become the mother of his son. There is a beautiful and happy future opened up to the pair.

New York's East Side is known as the world's most interesting neighborhood. Customs are in vogue there that are not found elsewhere in the world. "Little Miss Smiles," Shirley Mason's latest picture success, is a story of the East Side. It tells the story of a girl who is brought up in a tenement, laughs a lot, elixir a little and goes home happy that you saw it. Can you imagine how much sunshine and good can be brought into a girl's life by a simple little smile? See this picture and fully realize it.

Mabel Normand is coming to The Strand on Thursday, Friday and Sunday in "Head Over Heels." In this comedy Mabel Normand arrives in the American theatrical office of Sterling & Lawrence, a "flop" which is run by a partner discovered abroad. However, she is far from being a star and is nothing more than a fair, cheerful, but who has a temperance that explodes all over the office. At the suggestion of the press agent and as a last resort, she is hurried into a beauty parlor and when she emerges she is a real beauty. Now, however, the director sees other possibilities in Tina, but these center around a matrimonial venture. And once again the girl explodes when she hears of it. It would be unfair to tell what the ultimate outcome is. Suffice to say that it's amusing in the extreme.

"The Man Who Married His Own Wife," in which Frank Mayo stars in a most unusual story. A California shipmaster, rescues a beautiful woman from a shipwreck and later marries her. To soon loses her love and believing that the ugly scars on his face are responsible, loses his identity and goes east to have his face re-made by plastic surgery. When he returns he is an unknown, and makes love to his own wife and finally re-marries her. See it and marvel.

"WILD GOOSE CHASE"

Six acts—and others

The usual excellent program of surrounding features will also be carried on.

For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Agnes Ayres will lead the galaxy of stars who are to appear in their latest productions at this popular amusement house. Miss Ayres will appear in her latest and most successful story of modern life, a gripping drama of impetuous young love, entitled "Borderland." James Kirkwood and Anna Q. Nilsson in "The Man From Home," a new George Fitzmaurice feature will be the other leading attraction.

Agnes Ayres' latest Paramount picture, "Borderland," is a powerful and novel story. It is an unusual, beautiful picture and because of its powerful story, it should exert a powerful appeal.

Edith Wayne, pretty, young, rich and spoiled, thinks herself neglected and unappreciated by her husband. She turns to her husband's cousin, Clyde Meredith, and gradually falls a victim of his fascination.

Watching anxiously at the Well of the World, Edith is Dora Beckett, a girl who is guarding over Edith's welfare and who seeks to restrain her from making the same mistakes she made while on earth.

Edith agrees to a rendezvous with Meredith at Beckett's Point, the old family home, whence they are to sail to the other side of the world. Dora, to her surprise, does not go. Dora's message who has arrived at the home. However, Dora gets her act together and eventually through the medium of an old servant who relates what had happened to Dora years ago.

Dora was married to a harsh, old, unkind man. They had one girl, Polly, a mischievous child, and a dog, Capt. Francis Vincent came to Dora, his ship being wrecked just below the rocks of Beckett's Point. Meeting to Vincent's ship, Dora and her husband, who does not go, break out at the house. Knowing that she is locked in her room, her love, love reawakened, she jumps overboard, swimming ashore and is washed out by the tide.

When the servant has finished telling the story Edith jumps to her feet and rushes out of the house with only one thought—to get to her own Jimmy before anything can happen to him.

As she tears herself away, her better self awakens, the Angel of Heaven tells Dora that she was won the right to find her little girl Totty.

Edith drives furiously to the private school where she has sent Jimmy and what happens there can better be related on the screen itself. It will suffice to say that the plot ends happily for all concerned.

"Borderland" is a fanciful tale, different from the ordinary cinema entertainment, but none the less appealing. Miss Ayres is delightful in her various roles and the supporting cast is excellent.

"The Man From Home" based on Booth Tarkington's famous novel, forms the second feature for the first part of the week. "The Man From Home" is capital entertainment, supplying in addition to a thrilling and dramatic story, the pleasure of living for more than an hour in the most magnificent section of Italy. One gets the habit of always expecting something exceptional from George Fitzmaurice when he undertakes to direct a picture and in his latest work he has translated what is probably the most popular of all Booth Tarkington's novels to the screen. A first class cast interprets the various roles.

A comedy and the International News will complete the bill. For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the feature will be "The Indelible," with Katherine MacDonald and Anita Stewart in "A Question of Honor."

SUNDAY AT THE STRAND.

"The Highest Law," a Ralph Ince super-special, will be the feature picture offering at the Strand for Sunday. Besides this big picture attraction the management will present other fine features and the only vaudeville given in town on Sunday. The latter will be accompanied by a genuine Boston jazz orchestra. Manager Torgan is giving special attention to his Sunday concert and his efforts have brought most favorable results. The standard of the entertainment is clean and high-grade. Increased attendance reflects the appreciation of the patrons. And it's always cool and comfortable at this theatre.

MR. HANLEY'S GOOD ADVICE

In his statement to The Sun a few days ago Mr. John Hanley, chairman of the local strike committee, offered a very wise suggestion to the Tremont & Suffolk, the Appleton and Boot mills in case they contemplate a reduction in wages. He advised them before declaring any reduction to call in representatives of their operatives and hold a conference with them upon the proposed change. He stated that if this had been done by some of the mills that have declared a reduction, the strikes might have been averted. In making this statement Mr. Hanley covered a very important point which the mills seem either to ignore or not to have discovered. Some months ago The Sun published a statement from a textile paper showing how strikes were averted in Lancashire, Eng., by just such conferences as have been suggested by Mr. Hanley. If the managers of the mills would take their operatives into their confidence and talk matters over in a business-like way with them, we feel that a great many of the present misunderstandings would be overcome and most of the strikes prevented. Some years ago, or during the war and for a year or two afterwards, it was supposed that the principle of collective bargaining had been conceded by the employers of labor, especially those who run the railroads, the coal mines and the textile industry. This principle worked well during the war and for some time afterwards, but since it seems the employers wished to retrace their steps and to revert to the old and arbitrary methods under which the first information the employees have of a reduction in wages is a notice posted upon the walls of the factory in some conspicuous place in which they are sure to see it. This is a very unsatisfactory and disagreeable method of informing any class of workers that the rate of wages under which they are working is to be reduced. If the reduction were merely five per cent., the employees might not raise much objection; but when it is 20 per cent., or one-fifth of the total amount earned, there is certainly a good reason why the operatives should ask for an explanation and want to be shown why such a cut is necessary. After all, the average mill operative is a reasonable person who is willing to be convinced and usually ready to accept what is fair; but when a slap like this cut of 20 per cent. is thrown in his face with a spirit of "take it or leave it," he usually becomes nettled and as a rule goes out on strike and stays out until such times as the matter is fully discussed and all misunderstandings removed.

We commend Mr. Hanley's advice to the mills mentioned and other concerns that may contemplate a reduction of wages for any large number of employees.

ORATORY DISAPPEARING

What a very remarkable change has taken place in modes of entertainment in various societies, since the introduction of motion pictures! Some years ago it was a common practice for organizations composed of young men to conduct literary programs made up largely of essays and declamations. The latter constituted a very popular feature and one that was quite helpful to the young man in teaching them the art of expression before an audience. Declamations at such meetings are now very rare and as a result young men gain but little from membership in such societies. It may be recalled that many of our more prominent local politicians gained their first introduction to the public through taking part in programs of this kind and in which they were called upon to make a speech or deliver a declamation. It would seem that the art of oratory is being sadly neglected even by professional men. Some twenty-five years ago there would be no difficulty in securing a lawyer, doctor or clergyman in Lowell to deliver a first class oration upon almost any imaginable subject. Now, however, it is difficult to find even a lawyer delivering a set speech of any importance. The question arises as to whether this has resulted from the introduction of moving pictures and the almost complete disappearance of the living drama from the stage. It is true that amateur theatricals were very helpful to those who participated in oration and in the training the players received in the art of expression for the stage was a valuable training for the orator, and it is well known that those who could assume a "theatrical" role with ease were always able to accept their oratorical duties with ease and confidence.

There has also been an unfortunate change of public sentiment in regard to the character of the orator and this may be responsible in some degree for the lack of training in oration and oratory and the elimination of declamations as a feature of entertainment programs. It seems that there is here an opportunity for many organizations of young men to benefit their members by establishing debating societies and popularizing the old methods of making declamations a feature of their entertainment programs. The schools are apparently falling behind in teaching the art of expression in the effective manner in which it was taught in past years. Truly good work is done at the high school, but unfortunately there are so many special branches that the more essential do not receive the attention that their importance demands. The time has arrived when oratory will soon become a lost art unless the schools and some organizations endeavor to revive some of its best features and thus benefit the young generation by enabling them to express their ideas upon ordinary topics with ease, force and oratory.

PROSPERITY HERE

Latest report from railroads is that in the week ended July 1 they loaded 855,896 cars of freight. That is about 10,000 cars more than in the corresponding week last year and 13,000 more than in the corresponding week of 1919, during the big boom. Returning prosperity must be a mighty healthy individual, after his long fast, to make a showing so good, with coal shipments 65,000 cars a week below normal.

"BLUE BOY"

Henry E. Huntington, owner of the famous Gaietyland painting, "Blue Boy," has a library worth $100,000. This collection, at San Marino, Cal., consists of rare volumes and priceless old manuscripts. Yet Henry doesn't get as much pleasure out of these brain numbing as a kid in knee pants gets out of a book on radio or "Huckleberry Finn." Not what you have, but how much enjoyment you get out of it, is what counts.

SAMARITANS

Nine million Russians now are being kept alive on American food. This means one Russian is being fed by every 12 Americans. It is pretty good Samaritan work considering hard times.

When it comes to foreign charity, we are entitled to be a trifle snooty. There is not quite as much Samaritanism here at home among ourselves as there should be. We seem to sympathize more with suffering at the other side of the earth than that which is found at our own doors.

There has been a great deal of talk about the irregular purchase of two motor trucks and a passenger touring car by the mayor for the city. If there is any question of illegality in the purchase, it is the duty of the

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

In the letter accompanying the draft, the sender, Charles N. Taylor, a former resident of Lowell, describes the city of Hankow. He says that it has a population of 500,000, which includes about 100,000 Americans. Englishmen, Frenchmen, and Russians. The city itself is quite up-to-date for that section and has electric lights, a modern sewerage system, and many other conveniences. Just at present, he says, there are warships anchored in the harbor at all times to act as a check on the revolutionary spirit that is raging in China today. Mr. Taylor says that it is a great country for a sportsman as there is good shooting, with ducks of all kinds, partridge and snipe. He also remarks that they have all kinds of liquid refreshments, from Scotch to peppermint. Let's sail next week.

Of late I have heard more or less talk and many arguments which link together radio apparatus and electrical disturbances. Certain factions claim that the number of thunder storms which have visited this city this summer have been caused by the use of radio apparatus. There are others who claim that the radio apparatus has nothing to do with thunder storms and that such allegations are foolish fancies of those who are seeking to find the cause. There is one point, however, which neither faction can side step and that is that we are having more storms than usual and that there is more radio apparatus in use than ever before. As Roger do Coverly would say, "There is much to be said on both sides."

The vanishing country store exists in principle in some clubs in the city where members solemnly argue world affairs over noonday luncheon. And some of these clubs carry the country store idea so far they play checkers and pitch rubber shoes. The furniture is so expensive that they cannot afford to let their members play checkers. The whittling habit was also regarded as a very nervous man's habit of preserving their composure, serving in this relation much the same purpose as hitting the pipe.

In the good old days when street car fares were only five cents, with transfer privileges, when the cars used to have both a conductor and a motorman, passengers took little notice of the conductor's announcement of the different streets along the line. With but one man on a car it is a difficult matter for him to call out the streets, and it is often a great service to the passengers, especially when it is raining and the windows are covered with vapor. This matter was brought to my attention on a Highland car the other night. The motorman called out each street in a clear voice. In time to enable passengers to get their things together preparatory to alighting. Strangers, these unfamiliar with the different lines could surely appreciate it if stops were announced.

MINSTREL SHOW AT CAMP WELDMOORS
The Weldmoors minstrel of the Y. W. C. A. summer camp of that name will give a big minstrel show this evening at 7 o'clock. Miss Marie A. Taylor will act as interlocutor and the Misses Nelson Cross and Eleanor Anderson as end men. A quartet composed of Alta Plouffe, Marion Cate, Helen McCabe and Marie Taylor will sing two numbers. Solos will also be rendered by Hazel Currier, Helen McCabe, Jean Allen, Allen Hart and Alta Plouffe.

Last Thursday was field day at the camp. Three teams, known as the Weldmoors, Cherokee and Mohican engaged in a croquet tournament, which was won by the Weldmoors team. In the afternoon a track meet was held, the half mile being won by Evangeline Kearns, 49 yards dash, won by Hazel Currier, standing broad jump, won by Evangeline Kearns. The total score was: Weldmoors, 37 points; Cherokee, 20 points; Mohicans, 0 points.

A few vacancies exist at the camp and those wishing to register should make application immediately.

WILL CLOSE CENTRAL STREET BRIDGE

Starting tonight at 1 o'clock and continuing till 5 o'clock Monday morning, the Central street bridge will be closed to vehicular traffic. It is thought at present that the electric cars will be allowed to cross the bridge during this time. Pedestrian traffic will be allowed on the upstream side but none on the downstream side. On Tuesday morning the bridge will be thrown open to every kind of traffic.

This is the second period of week-end work by the R. E. Runnels Construction Co. and they plan to complete as much work as possible tomorrow. Last Sunday the preliminary work, such as the laying of new steel trusses and huge concrete slabs, was done on the upstream side. During this closed time the work will be completed on the downstream side.

At present the plans for accommodations during the patrons of the Strand theatre are only tentative. It is planned, however, to build a runway to the entrance of the house and have all the people leave by the Warren street exits.

THIRD MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL FILED

DEBIDAM, July 22.—A third supplementary motion for a new trial for Nelsa Saeco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of the murder of a paymaster and his guard at South Frampton in 1920, was filed today in the Norfolk county superior court. The motion, details of which were made public by counsel for the defendants earlier in the week, attacked the testimony of Carlos D. Gbodrigo, an identical witness, on the ground that he was a former convict, and that he committed perjury at the trial in that his real name is Erasmus C. Whitney. The document comprised about 100 typewritten pages.

Quarter Century Ago

From the old Sun:
"Capt. Boycott, whose name has added another word to the English language, is dead. Descended from a long line of Englishmen who believed that duty to those who may serve should be the plan of man's action. The word boycott is less than 17 years old.

"It was invented by Fr. John O'Malley of the village of Deenane, in Connemara, Ireland. James Redpath, who was traveling through that section addressing the poor people, was at a loss for a word to express social, political and personal ostracism which the peasant had adopted against harsh agents and factors as the only lawful means of protecting themselves from eviction. 'Ostracism' was too learned for the average tenant, and Fr. O'Malley, to whom Redpath applied for a simpler expression, instantly suggested 'boycott.'

"It was at once taken up by the London press and spread over the world with the speed of lightning." It was an expressive term that was much needed, especially as the "boycott" is more used in recent years than ever before.

Boycott was a stern man and thought he could do, as he pleased with his Irish estate. But Parnell advised the poor people not to give to the landlords what was needed to feed themselves and their families. The advice was followed. Before Capt. Boycott died, he regained his popularity so that the people asked him to run for parliament, but he refused.

Lawrence Hosiery Closed

Says the Sun:
"Notices have been posted in the Lawrence hosiery, stating that the mill will be closed Aug. 1 for an indefinite period. The hosiery has considerable business in the stocking line, but little in the line of underwear. The shut-down is necessitated by changes to be made in the machinery. Mechanics are working day and night. As soon as the changes are made, the mills will reopen."

Congress and the Tariff Laws

Quarter of a century ago congress had just finished its labors in framing the Dingley tariff bill in special session as here stated by the Sun:
"The extraordinary session of congress, which has just ended, was called by President McKinley two days after he took the oath of office. It met in pursuance of this proclamation at noon, March 15. The special message transmitted by him to both houses on the opening day was brief. It explained the deficiency in the revenues, reviewed the hard issues of the last administration and urged congress promptly to correct them. The session was marked by passing a tariff bill that would supply ample revenues for the support of the government in the liquidation of the public debt. No other subject of legislation was mentioned in the message, and the tariff bill has been the all-absorbing feature of the session."

The Sun of that day performed the remarkable feat of publishing the entire Dingley bill, in two and a half pages in which the schedules were given in parallel columns with those of the Wilson act of 1891 and the McKinley law of 1890. In that case it took congress four months to pass a new tariff law but under the Harding administration it has taken over two years and the bill is still under heated discussion with no indication as to when it will be enacted. William McKinley was elected in 1895 because of his high tariff views and on the slogan of "the full dinner pail."

Death of Rev. Dr. Dana

Following from the old Sun will recall pleasant memories of a clergyman who was once quite popular in Lowell:
"Rev. Dr. Malcolm McGregor Dana died at his home in Brooklyn yesterday. He had been ill for a long time with a complication of ailments, and his death has been hourly expected for several weeks. Malcolm McGregor Dana was born in Brooklyn about 60

Berton Braley's Daily Poem
THE IDLE SHIPS

Our sides are growing rusty, our paint is cracked and flaked, In winter's cold our plates have chilled, in summer heat they've baked; Our boiler-tubes are clogged with dust, our grates are bleak and cold, The water in our bilges is thick with slime and mould; We fret against our moorings and dream of being free To buck again the living waves and sail the pounding sea, To seek far distant harbors about the teeming world With all our boilers roaring, and all our flags unfurled.

Men made us, men command us, we are but wood and steel, Yet, from the towering masthead down to the stout-built keel, There is a soul within us, a soul that waits the day When we shall slip our moorings and steam upon our way. We do not know the customs that rule the marts of trade But, oh, we weary of the berths where overlong we've laid! Surely the world must need the freight which we were built to bear; When shall we wander once again the ocean thoroughfare?

Oh, man, our lord and master, we rot here where we lie, While famine stalks across the world and hungry millions die! Fill up, fill up our bunkers with good black coal or oil, And send us forth upon the sea to do our purposed toil; With wheat and corn and wool and steel within our cargo hold, And all the articles of trade that men have bought and sold. We tug upon our cables, we ships that long to be Grashing our way across the deep, the broad, eternal sea! (Copyright, 1922, The Lowell Sun)

Text of the Governor's Appeal

"TO THE SHERIFFS OF OUR COUNTIES, THE MAYORS OF OUR CITIES, THE SELECTMEN OF OUR TOWNS, CONSTATLES, CITY MARSHALS, CHIEFS OF POLICE, AND ALL OTHER OFFICERS:

"Reports of industrial disorder in some parts of the Commonwealth have come to me. In the highest interests of the whole citizenship of Massachusetts, I ask your co-operation in making secure to each individual his inalienable right to work."

"It is the first duty of government to enforce the law and guarantee to every citizen the enjoyment of his rights. This applies to every county, town and city, as well as to the State at large. I have full confidence that the responsible officers in each community will respect the obligations of the trust reposed in them to guard its good name. I believe this will suffice."

"But the Commonwealth of Massachusetts cherishes its good name and is ready now to use every force at its command, whether civil or military, to protect the avenues of transportation, to prevent intimidation, to suppress violence, and to maintain the public safety."

Three Lawrence People Under Suspicion

LAWRENCE, July 22.—Three persons are under suspicion as having set fire to a wood and coal yard, owned by Nathan Heffron, shortly before 6 o'clock this morning, according to Fire Chief Morris. The yard was gutted entailing a loss of about $4000 and a three story tenement block next door was damaged to the extent of about $5000 and three families were driven out scantily clad. A general alarm was sounded.

MILL HAZARDS AND HOW TO AVOID THEM

Issued by the Massachusetts Safety Council

By C. H. STOWELL
Safety Engineer

A frequent cause of injury in textile mills, in common with other plants, is the handling of material and objects used in the ordinary work of the day. Injuries from this cause cannot be prevented by any mechanical safeguards, but can be by care on the part of the worker.

Strains caused by lifting are often very serious, but will not occur if proper methods of lifting are used. Back strains are very common and are usually caused by bending or leaning over to lift a heavy object instead of stooping by bending the knees. The act of bending over puts a strain on the back muscles so that they are in no position to stand the further strain of lifting. By stooping, the strongest muscles of the body are brought into use.

Lifting should be done steadily, without quick, sudden motions. A rope capable of supporting a ton may easily be broken by a much lighter weight if the weight is dropped so as to give the rope a quick jerk. When getting ready to lift, let the muscles settle gradually into their work. It is impossible to strain the muscles if they are properly used.

When lifting with another person, be sure that no sudden, unexpected load is brought upon him by shifting of position or dropping of one end of the load. A loomfixer is very often injured when putting a new warp on a loom because his helper does not handle his end of the beam properly.

Tools and other small objects should not be left on the floor for others to trip over. Bobbins and spools in mills caused many serious accidents in the past by rolling when stepped on and throwing persons into moving machines. All material should be kept out of aisles and passages. When carrying oil be sure that none is spilled on the floor for someone to slip on. Walk carefully over wet places which have just been cleaned by the scrubber.

Repairmen and others working on stagings or other places above the floor are frequently afflicted with a disease known among safety engineers as "dropsy," that is they have a great tendency to drop tools and other material on the heads of those below. Extra care is necessary in the handling of tools on stagings and those obliged to pass under them should be on the lookout for falling objects.

Many injuries are caused by the falling of material which has not been properly piled, such as lumber, cases or iron castings. Such material should be piled smoothly and evenly and, if the pile is very high, it should grow smaller toward the top. No part of the pile should project beyond the rest. Anyone who has bumped his shins against the spindle of a beam which has been left farther out than the rest in a row can realize the value of this precaution.

Stepping on a nail pointing upward in a board, which always causes a very serious injury, indicates some carelessness in the person injured this way, but more on the part of the persons who left the board in that position, and also some on the part of those who have passed by and not turned the board over or bent the nail down. In a like manner injuries may be caused by projecting bands on a cotton bale, barrel hoops, wire on packing cases.

When pushing trucks or boxes, use care not to strike any person in front. It is much easier for the trucker to avoid striking other employees than for them to avoid the truck. It is well, also, to run the truck wheels along the floor rather than over someone's toes as occasionally happens. Special care should be used in approaching swinging doors through which trucks pass.

Although accidents caused by handling material are usually more than half of all those happening in a mill, they are very easily prevented by the application of a little common sense in the daily work.

OLD TIME OUTING AND CLAM BAKE

A real old time outing and clam bake with several new features is planned for the annual outing of Lowell lodge, No. 87, B. P. O. Elks which will be held this year at the Martin Luther grounds on August 17. As usual the bake will be preceded by an auto parade through the principal down town streets. Governor Cox and Senator Lodge, both "Bills," have promised to be among those present.

The proceeds of the outing will be turned over to the Christmas charity committee and, from the advance sale of tickets the committee will have a tidy sum to count on as a nucleus for this year's work.

A real live committee has been appointed and it is doing something every minute to put this year's outing across such as no other has been. James L. Kenney is chairman of the outing committee and will be assisted by W. E. Turnbull, James E. Donnelly, Thomas J. Dowd, J. Joseph Gilley, Thomas F. O'Sullivan, Thomas H. Atkinson, Edward F. WILL ATTEMPT TO CHECK DROWNINGS

BOSTON, July 21.—Alarmed at the many drownings in New England, representatives of the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts, the Y. M. C. A. and other organizations met yesterday afternoon at the Massachusetts Safety Council at its headquarters at 5 Beacon street and considered preventive measures. It was voted to appoint a permanent committee to study the problem and to publish matter instructing the public.

In the opinion of the council, every person on going into the water should have knowledge of three essential facts: that a person may always float, even when the body is nearly covered with water; if he will only lie on his back with his arms outstretched; that every swimmer should familiarize himself with the methods of rescuing a drowning person, and that persons should not go into the water when overheated or after hearty eating. Two hours is none too long to wait after a hearty meal.

It was the opinion of the conference that the public, including public officials, is not yet sufficiently informed as to the prone-pressure method of resuscitation, which requires no apparatus, and plans were made to have the method taught by services of the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts and other agencies, by means of public demonstrations.

It was said at the meeting that when a body is taken from the water, even though it should have been in the water 30 minutes or more, attempts should be made at resuscitative measures. It was voted to appoint a permanent committee to study the problem and to publish matter instructing the public.

In the opinion of the council, every person on going into the water should have knowledge of three essential facts: that a person may always float, even when the body is nearly covered with water; if he will only lie on his back with his arms outstretched; that every swimmer should familiarize himself with the methods of rescuing a drowning person, and that persons should not go into the

A tract of land comprising substantially 50 acres, located in Andover street between Clark road and Luce street, which runs closely parallel with Butman road, has been sold by the C. I. Hood estate to Adolphus J. Landry of Cohasset, who is understood to be an expert in the development of a better class of residential property.

The land formerly was the old Joshua Clark farm, which had been in the Clark family for more than a century until purchased by the late Mr. Hood in 1907. The property is wholly within the city limits and there are no buildings upon it. It seems to be well located for residential development, as it may easily be entered from Clark road on the east and from the west through two streets, called Eastview and Hovey streets, running easterly from Butman road.

The transfer was made through the agency of Albert C. Blaisdell of Tewksbury, with George H. Taylor representing the Hood estate. It is said the price paid is considerably greater than the assessed valuation.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING

A special town meeting for the voters of Chelmsford will be held in the Centre town hall next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The warrant for the meeting contains ten articles calling for appropriations aggregating over $3000. Fifteen hundred dollars is asked for the construction of highways. Other articles are to take action upon making a contract with the Lowell Electric Light Corp. for street lighting; to see if the town will vote to elect a finance committee at the next annual town meeting; the equipping of the new firehouse at East Chelmsford, now under construction, for which $500 is asked; and $200 for the care and maintenance of "the dump," so called, at North Chelmsford.

Goodrich announces new tire prices

—lowest cost mileage ever known

Effective July 20th, Goodrich established a revised price list that is a base line of tire value.

It gives the motorist the buying advantage of knowing that whatever size tire he selects is of the same quality—the Goodrich one-quality standard.

It gives him the longest mileage, the most satisfactory service and the highest quality his money can buy. Results will prove that it is impossible to buy tire mileage at lower cost.

Fumes Drive Hundreds From Beds

NEW YORK, July 22.—Hundreds living in West 46th and West 47th streets were routed from their homes today by ammonia fumes that permeated the neighborhood for an hour when a cylinder head blew off at an ice cream factory in 11th avenue. Firemen wearing gas masks went to the basement but the fumes penetrated their clothing and burned them. They then put on rubber suits and succeeded in shutting off the valves.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS—BUILDING NOTES

Low-Lying Cottage is Excellent Style

If you like the spirit of the bungalow, but are heartily tired of the restlessness, overdone, pompous ones we see on every hand, you'll find here a suggestion for a low-lying cottage in excellent taste. Nothing could be more useful than this simple roof, with its unobtrusive dormer, and the absence of over-elaborate, heavy details.

The lines and proportions of the house are good, and there is a ruggedness about its exterior that makes it picturesque. Vertical battens, with enamel ends, for the second story, suggestive of the Swiss chalet, are a "different" touch. Stucco is used for the first story. The long slope of the roof includes under its protection the spacious front porch, half-screened from public view by a simple, yet pleasing, balustrade.

A good attic, ventilated by louvers, occupies the bedrooms cool in summer. There are three bedrooms, of good size, with plenty of windows, and exceptionally large closets. One has two closets, and a mirror door. Another has a built-in dressing table and chest of drawers. The bathroom at the head of the stairs is convenient to all the house.

Although the layout of rooms is in an economical rectangle, they have pleasing variations from monotonous squares, which are so hard to furnish in a homelike way. There is a sunny alcove at the front of the living room; the dining-room is made semi-enclosed by a pair of china closets in the rear corner. These are very decorative, besides being useful and space saving.

Each room downstairs has windows on two sides. The small vestibule with boxed stair makes for privacy of every part of the house, and for easier venting in winter.

Efficiency is the keynote of the kitchen. It is the size all housewives know as "just right," has cross-ventilation to keep it wholesome and cheery, and an excellent arrangement of its ample cupboards and counters. Downstairs oak finish is suitable, and should be stained and waxed—never varnished. Oak floors are desirable in the main rooms, because they will stand hard and constant usage, yet keep their good appearance without too much upkeep. For the kitchen, most housewives prefer the clean-looking, durable maple floors, and painted woodwork and dressers.

Upstairs, the bedrooms and bathrooms should be enclosed in any one of the soft "tints" now available. Edge-grain yellow pine floors can be used in these rooms with entire satisfaction.

The Cost
Estimates on any building job are likely to vary considerably. The Curtis Service Bureau, Clinton, Ia., designers of The Boxboro, figured that somewhere around $3000 would build this house complete with heating, wiring, and plumbing.

Furniture for this house can be purchased from A. D. Blair & Co., Inc., 149 St. at reasonable terms. Adv.
